New Pact Will Have No Effect On U. S. Stand

Germany, Italy And Japan Have Long Backed Each Other's "Diplomatic Plays"

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Conclusion of the German-Italian-Japanese "united front" pact merely formalizes a situation that has existed for many months and which already has been discounted in American diplomatic planning, Washington officials said today.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull long as observed, informed officials said, that the three totalitarian states "back each others diplomatic plays." Announcement of the pact, it was emphasized, will have absolutely no effect upon Washington's policy of supporting Great Britain by measures "short of war" and insisting upon the observance of its treaty rights in the Far East.

Makes U. S. Position Plain

Hull made America's diplomatic position plain in an informal talk with reporters yesterday just after President Roosevelt announced the imposition of an embargo on scrap iron—vital war material—because of Japan's invasion of French Indo-China in violation of the Four-Power Pacific Pact.

He recalled that in 1937 he had sent a diplomatic note to every nation in the world telling them that this country insisted upon the observance of treaties and changes in territorial domination only through peaceful negotiation. If, he added, some nations choose to violate treaties, they must take the consequences.

U. S. Embargo On Export Of Scrap Iron Arouses Indignation In Japan

By LARRY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Sept. 27.—President Roosevelt's announcement of an embargo on exports of scrap iron and steel from the United States aroused a new outburst of indignation today.

A Japanese foreign office spokesman stressed that Japan's policy of expansion to the south is "immutable" despite the opposition of the United States.

(In Washington yesterday President Roosevelt ordered an embargo on exports on scrap iron and steel except to Great Britain and nations of the western hemisphere. Both in Washington and Tokyo this move was regarded as a blow against Japan. The embargo will take effect October 16.)

Japanese spokesman for the foreign office remarked acidly that Japan has "exhausted all her ideas regarding the actions of American secretary of State Cordell Hull."

Charges Discrimination

He declared that observations have been transmitted through the Japanese embassy in Washington citing the embargo as discrimination against Japan.

The spokesman also rapped what he termed a continuation of dis-

Twenty Classifications For Men In Draft Lists

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Approximately 20 classifications will be set up to tell the 16,500,000 potential conscripts who register under the new draft law which men will be called up first and which men will be deferred from service, it was learned today.

This information was gained as Washington officials revealed that they would rely on communities of the nation to act as "watch dogs" to prevent draft-dodging.

The service classifications will be announced by national draft board officials as soon as President Roosevelt signs an executive order approving them.

Four General Classifications

While the law provides for four general classifications, the general groups will be split into sub-groups, so there will be a total of 20 differ-

STRIKE OCCURS AT SHANGHAI

U. S. Marines Stand By For Emergency Duty—Blame Japanese For Trouble

By M. C. FORD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SHANGHAI, Sept. 27—While United States Marines stood by for emergency duty, police today sought to quell an allegedly Japanese-inspired general strike which is rapidly spreading through Shanghai public work facilities.

The strike was reportedly designed to discredit American, French, and other foreign officials in the French and international settlements of Shanghai.

The strike, presently confined to the sewage, garbage and public works departments, took a violent turn last night when strikers bombed a street car in the French concession, injuring 10 passengers. One striker was arrested.

It was reported that Rear Admiral Thomas C. Hart, commander of the U. S. Asiatic fleet, issued orders delaying the departure of five American destroyers and the cruiser Augusta for Manila until the situation quiets down.

Further tension was caused in the city today when two red-nosed Japanese pursuit planes roared over the business district barely clearing the roof tops.

Terrific Opposition Is Met By 500 Nazi Planes In Drive On Britain

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The royal air force piled up one of the biggest aerial "bags" in history today, with an official tally of 98 German aircraft shot down and destroyed up to 5 p. m. (noon E. D. T.) During a series of raids by 500 Nazi bombers and fighters on London and other cities of England.

The figure was still considerably short of the all-time record of more than 190 German planes brought down by anti-aircraft and the royal air force two weeks ago.

British losses were placed at 25 planes with the pilots of ten parachuting to safety.

Vincent Astor And Bride Honeymooning On Board His Yacht

Miss Mary Cushing Of New Haven, Conn., Is Pretty Bride Of Famous New Yorker

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Vincent Astor, largest single owner of New York real estate and the country's No. 1 "matrimonial catch", was married today to Mary Cushing, daughter of Mrs. Harvey Cushing of New Haven, Conn., it was revealed in an exclusive story by Cholly Knickerbocker, society editor of the New York Journal-American.

There had been rumors that Astor would make Miss Cushing his bride, the story said, but news of the wedding at East Hampton, L. I., will come as a complete surprise to society. Plans for the ceremony had been kept secret until almost the moment that Astor arrived at "Heatherdune", the ocean-front villa where Mrs. Cushing had passed the summer.

At the very simple ceremony, Knickerbocker wrote, Mrs. Cushing presented her daughter in marriage. William Rhinelander Stewart, Jr., served as Astor's best man and the only additional witnesses were the groom's mother, Lady Ribblesdale (the former Mrs. John Jacob Astor), the bride's sister, Mrs. "Betsey" Cushing Roosevelt, former wife of James Roosevelt, and her small daughters, Sarah and Kate Roosevelt, grandchildren of President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

After the ceremony, the couple entered a motor car which carried them to Montauk where the tender of the "Nourmahal," the Astor yacht, was waiting. The story added:

"They are now aboard the Astor yacht for a ten days' honeymoon at sea—with no definite destination. Their course will depend on the weather."

No Comment On Latest Pact, By Roosevelt

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Conclusion of the German-Italian-Japanese military alliance today found Washington officially indifferent, but underneath this diplomatic callousness appeared to be grave concern and increasing apprehension.

President Roosevelt, at his press conference, had little or no comment. At the state department, the official view what that the signing of the pact merely formalized what already existed. But congress, always more vocal, frankly looked upon the tri-partite agreement with alarm.

Roosevelt Avoids Questions

Mr. Roosevelt avoided all questions put to him by reporters who crowded his office less than four hours after announcement of the pact was made in Berlin. He said he had heard the rumor, but that in the absence of any official reports he had nothing to say.

Ask if conclusion of the tri-partite agreement was unexpected, he replied, well, yes and no. Asked if he might extend the scrap iron embargo invoked against Japan yesterday, to include petroleum, he advised his interrogator to ask the state department for the answer to that one.

Conference Called

Of considerable significance was the fact that immediately after the press conference the White House announced that the president had summoned for a conference Secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of Navy Knox, Admiral Stark, chief of naval operations, Gen. Marshall, army chief of staff, William S. Knudsen, production chief for the national defense council, Assistant Secretary of War Patterson and Undersecretary of Navy Forrestall.

Mr. Roosevelt also had a conference scheduled with Lord Lothian, the British ambassador, Sir Walter Leighton, British economist, and Neville Butler, counselor to the British embassy in Washington.

After a tour of the army's gun testing grounds the president will motor to Baltimore and then to Camp Meade, returning to the national capital late Monday afternoon. There will be no speeches, he said.

Berlin Announces Tri-Partite Military Alliance Between Nations

WARNS AMERICA ON INTERVENTION

American Embargo On Scrap Iron Evidently Played Part In New Agreement

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—In answer to President Roosevelt's alleged "silent alliance" with Great Britain, Nazi Germany today announced conclusion of a tripartite military alliance embracing Germany, Italy and Japan.

With the warning that any American intervention in Europe or the Far East will be confronted by the "concentrated power of 250,000,000 people," the pact as expounded by Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop is intended basically to inform the United States she is now faced with a choice between open participation in the war and non-belligerency.

Soon, it was said, Germany and Italy will begin to deal with Spain as the "mother country" of Latin-America as another step in the axis' "anti-American front".

Push War Toward U. S.

The candidate was greeted with music, powder bombs, cheers—and a few shouts of "Hurrah for Roosevelt."

Gov. George Wilson presented Willkie to the audience as a liberal "but not a liberal of the Kelly-Nash machine type."

Commissions To Name Draft Boards

Governor Makes Program Known

President Judge, School Superintendent And County Commissioners To Select Boards

NAMES REQUIRED BY OCTOBER 12

By EVERETT GERRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Sept. 27.—Commissions were established in Pennsylvania's 67 counties by Gov. Arthur H. James today to select the personnel of 422 draft boards.

In all counties, excepting Philadelphia, the president judge of common pleas court, the superintendent of schools and the county commissioners were designated to choose the draft boards. In Philadelphia the judge will be chosen by the board of common pleas judges.

Ready By October 12

The list of candidates for the draft boards must be returned to Governor James before Oct. 12 for submission to President Roosevelt at Washington. The task of registering men between 21 and 36 years for military service will begin Oct. 16.

The estimated 1,600,000 men who are eligible for conscription in Pennsylvania this year are prohibited from serving on the draft boards.

Governor James said he was satisfied that picking the members of draft boards could be accomplished through non-partisan and non-political means. The system was agreed upon at a conference between himself, Dr. William Mather Lewis, state selective service director, and Adjutant General Edward Martin.

Choose Local Boards

Names of applicants for service on the draft boards were mailed to the five-man commissions charged with the responsibility of choosing the local boards in the various counties.

"The president judge of each county court, the superintendent of schools and the county commissioners will have full responsibility for picking the members of the draft boards," explained the governor. "The county boards, however, will not be limited to this list.

"After a great deal of deliberation and study we have decided on this plan. I have consulted with persons interested in the smooth and expeditious operation of the selective service system."

Names forwarded to the commissions were recommended to him by the department of military affairs, added the governor.

Dr. Lewis, chief of the state's draft organization, and Lafayette college president, barred politics from the system and promised prospective draftees sympathetic action by the boards.

He asserted that the draft would be administered fairly, humanely and strictly on the merits of the cases submitted.

"There will be no politics," said Dr. Lewis. "Every man who registers may be certain that human considerations will be weighed carefully."

NEW PACT AIMED AT UNITED STATES

against Great Britain and it is difficult to see how Japan can obtain raw materials from them.

"The reference to the Japanese 'new order' (Italo-German collaboration in its fulfilment) appears purely academic, because it was conceived independently. Neither Italy nor Japan had anything to do with it.

"The agreement appears to have maximum propaganda if not material value for Germany and Italy but its value to Japan appears extremely doubtful.

Japan Hurried

"It is difficult to resist the conclusion that Japan was hurried into an agreement which can bring her no assistance but only an embarrassment which she will have to carry alone.

"Clause 3 (pledging mutual aid in event of interference by any power not now engaged in war) appears designed intentionally against the United States and it is difficult to see what other power it could possibly refer to. The agreement shows that Germany and Italy have lost all hopes of a short European war."

An axis coup to immobilize the American fleet and render it harmless to Nazi Germany in the Atlantic was seen by British officialdom as the underlying object of the Italo-German-Japanese military pact.

In return for Japan's gesture in throwing military and moral support to Axis designs in Europe, it was said, Germany has promised to supply with war materials she can no longer obtain from other sources.

These include scrap iron, whose export to Japan President Roosevelt embargoed in a dramatic move yesterday.

criminatory actions by the United States "despite Japan's willingness for seaceful settlement of difficulties in the Pacific."

"Japan is not impatient, but our policy of southward expansion is immutable" the spokesman declared.

Another qualified informant said the Japanese government finnally is convinced that the United States is unalterably opposed to Japan's "legitimate expansion in the far East."

This source added that he expected Japan to support Germany avtively if the United States should enter the European war.

Reports Unfounded

The Japanese foreign office, however, commented that predictions that Japan would enter the war if the United State should do so were "unfounded."

Other usually well informed quarters hinted that a Japanese-Russian non-aggression pact is "not unlikely." They said:

"Japan always has been opposed to Communism but this does not mean that a working arrangement with Russia cannot be effected."

According to the foreign office spokesman Japan's entry into Indo-China has now been agreed to peacefully by the French as their contribution to "establishment of a new order in the Far East and settlement of the China affair."

Says Settlement Reached.

He said the settlement with Indo-China was reached on the basis of conferences between Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka and French Ambassador Arsene Henry in Tokyo last month.

The foreign office issued a formal statement which said:

"Japan has assured the French government that it will respect the rights and interests of the French in East Asia, especially the territorial integrity of French Indo-China, and French sovereignty there.

"As a result France has agreed to afford the Japanese army and navy special facilities in Indo-China which are necessary for execution of Japan's military operations against China."

It was announced that the Japanese foreign office will issue an "important announcement" tonight, and a special meeting of correspondents was called to hear it.

Warns Of Frontal Clash

Tokyo, Sept. 27.—The controlled press of Tokyo warned today that a "frontal clash" between essential enterests of Japan and the United States is becoming inevitable.

Assailing the "hostile meddling" of the United States even as Japanese officialdom sought to minimize the anti-American aspects of the tripartite agreement signed in Berlin, Tokyo newspapers bluntly told Washington to keep its hands off Japanese affairs.

Japanese officials were openly indignant over the embargo on export of scrap iron to this country discreed by President Roosevelt yesterday, declaring that Japan's policy of expansion to the south is "immutable" despite American opposition.

But it was left to the press to express in outspoken form the present state of the Japanese mind.

The influential newspaper Asami Shimbun said:

"A frontal clash seems inevitable.

"Japan has been compelled to take a certain position to overcome obstacles to her establishment of an East Asiatic sphere. Against this position is the hostile meddling of the United States, which is bent on balking these Japanese efforts by persistent interference in the Far East.

"The rapidly mounting American hostility to Japan constitutes a challenge which requires firm determination on our part."

interfering with matters that do not concern it. From Hull's point of view, American policy in both Europe and the Far East is based merely on a defense of the United States' treaty rights and a determination to defend international law, as far as it affects American interests.

Informed Washington observers believe that conclusion of the German - Italian - Japanese Pact will have the inevitable effect of forcing the democratic powers—the United States, Great Britain and the Latin-American nations—into still closer cooperation.

Discount Oil Embargo Move

State Department sources, frankly admitting that the iron embargo was directed squarely at the Japanese for their treaty-smashing invasion of China and French Indo-China, discounted forecasts that this government's next move would be imposition, in concert with Britain, of an oil embargo.

It was pointed out that such a move undoubtedly would result in an immediate Japanese thrust into the Dutch East Indies, whose petroleum resources are largely under control of American and British companies. Such an assault, it was explained, could not be prevented or adequately met unless a powerful Anglo-American air and naval armada was assembled at Singapore.

20 CLASSIFICATIONS IN DRAFT LISTS

ent listings. For instance, Class 1, it was learned, will include a group immediately available for service and a group with minor physical ailments who can be called up, if necessary.

During the World War 3,630,106 men of the 23,908,000 who registered were placed in Class 1 for immediate service. About 889,000 others were placed in 1-A, or those with minor ailments who could serve if needed.

However, under the 1940 law, which provides for the training of only 900,000 men a year, it was believed that there would be enough in the first class to fill all quotas.

The army officer revealed that conscripts, when they register, will be given instruction booklets, explaining the draft law in the language of the man in the street. The booklet, which will be scanned by the civil liberties division of the department of justice before publication, will advise conscripts of their rights and privileges under the law.

Howell, an El Paso, Tex., attorney who was ordered back to active duty as an official of the draft board, declared that the entire registration of the nation's manpower of draft age could be completed in one day, as scheduled.

Nations are like individuals. They all promised to reform, you'll remember, when they got over that bad spell in 1918.

CLEANLINESS IN AUTO

Dirt allowed to collect on the floor of the driving compartment of a car may prove a danger. When the cowl ventilator is opened, the entering breezes will cause the dirt and dust to be blown about and a speck lighting in the driver's eye has been known to cause less of control of the car. Cleanliness pays.

NEW ATTACK ON CHANNEL PORTS

and bombed military preparations for the long-heralded Nazi invasion of Britain.

Wave after wave of British planes droned across the English channel and then plunged down on their targets through low-hanging rain clouds.

A red glare illuminated mists over the channel as scores of fires were started along the continental coastline by tons of explosives dropped by the British raiders.

Thunder of Explosions

Flashes from bombs and the thunder of explosions could be seen by watchers on the Dover cliffs, indicating that a veritable avalanche of destruction was being poured down on the German bases along the French coast.

Many of the British planes sped toward Cap Gris Nez, where German "Big Berthas" are mounted. These guns again shelled southeastern England yesterday.

The new attacks were a continuation of the mighty assault of Wednesday night and Thursday morning, when British planes spread destruction upon targets in 15 cities and towns, including Berlin and the Kiel naval base.

SPEED LIMIT AWAITS REVISION

THE speed limit on the new Pennsylvania Turnpike cannot be any higher than 50 miles an hour, during the first few months of its operation, for the simple reason that existing state law forbids it.

When the legislature meets in regular session in January it can, and undoubtedly will, fix specific speed limits, both maximum and minimum, for the super-highway.

Meanwhile the Turnpike Commission and motorists will have the benefit of a trial period during which actual usage will determine the safest and best rates for the road.

Because the turnpike will be without many of the usual highway hazards, having no grade crossings, no sharp curves and no stop-and-start lights, a maximum higher than the 50 miles prevailing on other roads appears reasonable.

For the initial weeks it is only an obvious precaution, as Governor James observes, to have the speed limit lower rather than higher than is safe.

FUEL ADVANTAGE

In the rising interest in the rate of airplane manufacture in the United States, it is just as well to note that in one phase of aviation America is already better prepared than any other nation. That is by reason of superior methods of refining its abundant petroleum into high quality fuel and lubricating oil.

Gasoline is rated according to its octane number. The higher the number, the better the operation of the motor that it fuels. Air speed is not possible with gasoline of low octane rating.

Regular gasoline which motorists buy at filling stations averages around 75 in octane rating. Ten years ago it was only 65 or less. American aviation gasoline has advanced even more rapidly. Most of it has a rating of 100 and refiners are working toward the 150 level. Germany's aviation gasoline ranges from 67 to 87. It means American planes have a 13 to 33 per cent better performance than German planes and can carry lighter fuel loads because of less consumption.

Incidentally, Britain has access to American petroleum products. That may be part of the explanation of British plane performance that out-matches the German.

PADEREWSKI'S PLIGHT

A bewildered old man, his hopes of finding peace in his twilight years on a little California estate temporarily frustrated, sits unhappily in a villa overlooking the Swiss village of Morges.

Ignance Paderewski, loved and honored wherever music still moves a human heart, sought to leave the strife and turbulence of Europe behind. He wanted to spend his eightieth birthday and the rest of his years in the United States. Only in that land can mankind today find real freedom.

His bags and trunks were packed. Volumes of the music which had thrilled millions of all nations of the world were prepared for their last journey with their creator. Permission to start his trip was received from France which was only too glad to permit this great old man safe passage across its territory.

Portugal also granted him a diplomatic visa. But all of his plans were shattered when Spain refused to grant him a transit visa. Bravely but unhappily, he returned to the Swiss villa and began to unpack.

No explanation has been given by Madrid for its ridiculous action. Perhaps it was taken only to please Germany, for the Nazis of Hitler have called Paderewski their "Public Enemy No. 1" because of his great work for Poland. After many years of great service to that little country, he held the title of speaker for the Polish Parliament while in exile in Angers, France, so it is easy to believe that the vengeance of a ruthless foe may be behind this plan to keep an old man from the peace that he has earned.

Americans look with honor upon Paderewski. We hope the government in Washington may be able to take up his case with Madrid officials and offer a plea in his behalf. We would be honored by having this great artist and great man end his days in this country in the happiness that others seek to deny him.

MORE LENDING

The latest attempt to quarantine the dictators of Europe by cementing the good neighbors of the Western Hemisphere in North and South America comes from the present New Deal Congress at Washington in the shape of a loan for a half billion dollars to the Latin American countries for the purpose of fighting the threatened totalitarian trade drive on the Western Hemisphere after the war is over.

Just how this will work out in actual life is something which cannot yet be determined. There is some ground for believing that this half billion dollar loan is just so much more Santa Clausing.

There is no question of cementing a military Western Hemisphere defense against a dictatorial Europe. This may and ought to be accomplished, if possible, but the problem goes far deeper than this.

Take the example of the Argentine Republic for instance. Trade with Europe is the very life blood of that nation. Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy took 79 per cent of Argentine's products in 1938, while the United States took only nine per cent. Just how much permanent good is a loan to Argentine to keep her surplus products off the market going to do that nation, in any trade contest with Europe?

Argentine, consuming less than one-tenth of her own products, must trade somewhere. The situation in the United States is far different. We consume 90 per cent of our products. We cannot expect Argentine to get along on loans from the United States and a continued piling up of surpluses. If she is not to trade with a dictator-controlled Europe then the only alternative will be to trade with the United States. This means letting down the bars and absorbing the commodities which formerly went across the Atlantic. This in turn means lower prices, curtailed production and ruin to our own farmers and stock men. No wonder then that Jose Cantilo, recent Argentine Foreign Minister said to Wayne Thomis, of the Chicago Tribune, that, to quote the publication, his country "was necessarily straddling the fence. It supported hemisphere defense against aggression, but it could not ignore the fact that its markets were in Europe. Political changes abroad did not alter that fact." Cantilo said further, that if Uncle Sam wanted to lend money to Argentine all well and good but "we will accept it with the knowledge that it will settle no problem whatever".

Hitler is talking about aid to Mussolini. And he may have to rush it faster than he thinks.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

MEMORY, BEST ROAD TO LEARNING

Let no student in high school or college suppose he can get along without boning (committing things to memory). There are certain facts and symbols which will be needed constantly. The earlier they are memorized the better. An example is the spelling of the technical vocabulary of any course.

Parrot Chat

Many are tempted to memorize an item before they know what it means, to memorize mere words and phrases. I regret to confess that I did much of this when I was in college. In Chemistry, for example, I often made perfect recitations by merely repeating what I could visualize from the pages of the text book. I could read off statements and formulate from memory as if I were reading them from the book right before my eyes. In my imagination I was doing just this. Though some can by considerable cramming before examination make good grades through this procedure, they are pretty sure to meet with trouble by and by. It is a wasteful way. I know, for although I always got an "A" in college chemistry, I really learned very little of it.

Now let me entreat the young student that, except for a few symbols, he make it a rule to get the meaning of every item before learning it by heart. In many instances this will consist of turning the paragraph of the text book into a sentence or two of your own words. Then the memorizing of these ideas is relatively easy.

Systematic Methods

On the other hand, some students are content with figuring out the meaning. They don't bother about committing these ideas or items to memory. They trust to incidental memory. They neglect a step in study at which they could, through a little systematic effort and self-discipline, get greatest dividends from small investment of effort. As a rule, what is worth figuring out, is worth remembering. Some practice at boning is good practice for the student.

By the way, some high school and college students, required to memorize a poem, have observed that although they were confused and unsuccessful in mastering the poem the last thing at night, they might, while dressing the next morning, recall the poem perfectly without seeing it at all in the meanwhile.

Memory Aids

An aunt of mine once told me that while teaching school years ago she would sometimes labor in vain over a mental arithmetic problem. Giving it up at night, she would put the book under her pillow and on waking in the morning, usually solve the problem with ease. She and others about her then supposed there was some magic in having the book under her head.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE JITTERBUGS

Dame Rumor takes a holiday—in time of peace. But in times of tension like the present, that Old Lady's tongue is wagging most of the time. Just the other day the Panama Canal was thrown into a flurry of excitement when reports started spreading like wildfire that sixty persons had been killed in a mysterious explosion at one of the canal locks, and that a major train wreck had occurred in the Canal Zone. All these rumors, so far as can be learned, have proved absolutely groundless.

Back in Washington, D. C., Rep. Ross Collins (Miss.) viewed a film at the War Department showing how Germany's mechanized forces had smashed across Holland and Belgium. Long an outspoken champion of a more mechanized army for the United States, he then arranged a private showing of the film for some of his fellow-congressmen, anxious that they see for themselves what a blitzkrieg in action looks like. Result: Rumors at once started buzzing in Washington circles that he must be "A foreign agent."

There's not much we can do about these ill-founded reports. These are times when Dame Rumor does doubel duty. But at the least, we can suspend judgment and belief until suspicious rumors are confirmed. Your best protection against Dame Rumor is your shirt. Keep it on!

According to the committee in charge of the various dances and celebrations marking President Roosevelt's birthday, the 1940 "fight infantile paralysis" campaign brought in a total of $1,407,245.74. However, we have never seen an itemized account of what all this money was spent for.

WHERE TO SPEND THE SUMMER

When planning this summer's vacation, perhaps these suggestions may be useful:

Miners should to Ore.
Farmers should go to Mo.
Laundresses should go to Wash.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

By FRANCINE MARKEL

My little friend, Myrna, has just ended, tearfully, another futile day of job hunting. I know why her efforts have been futile. I have hesitated thus far to tell her, as she is a most sensitive soul, but tonight when she comes to weep upon my shoulder, as she is sure to do, I am going to tell her the awful truth in words very like these:

My dear, you were graduated from college and from secretarial school with honors. The personnel managers all rank you high in your tests which prove you to be a perfect stenographer. You are as fair to look upon and are as shapely as Miss America or Vivien Leigh or Hedy Lamarr! But you will never get a job with an important organization so long as you persist in sitting before your hoped-for employer made up, coiffed and gowned for Hollywood. The big boss may wish in his heart that it would be good office politics for him to take you on looking like that, but he knows well that it would not be. So he gives the job to another attractive girl who hides her lights under a bushel. In other words, dress down to first class office standards. Wear simple, tailored clothes. The shops are full of them. It's smart to be tailored today. Tone down your make-up. Give up your shoulder-length bob for something less spectacular. An executive may have no objection to make-up and fussy clothes, but he will undoubtedly select the well but simply dressed girl in preference to the painted doll who looks as if she has come fully caparisoned for a date with him after office hours.

Readers' Questions Answered

Question: I have been asked to be a chaperon at a fraternity dance taking place in a hotel ballroom. I have accepted and now would like to know just what my duties are. — D. D.

Answer: With the other chaperons or patronesses, you should form a receiving line and greet the guests as they enter and pass by you. The guests themselves should remember that it is quite as necesary to greet the chaperons as it is to greet a hostess whose house they enter.

After all the guests have arrived, you may relax your vigil and join the dancers if you have a partner, or are asked to dance by any of the men present.

Strictly speaking, a chaperon is supposed to see that law and order prevail; but, of course, at a hotel dance, you will have little more to do than greet the guests, as stated, after which you may join in the merriment or sit and talk with the other chaperons, if you are beyond the dancing age, or unacompanied by a man.

WOMEN AND LODGES

A man asserts that "women in lodges can hold on longer and do less than men do in their lodges."

This man just thinks so because he sometimes waits in the ante room a couple of hours after his wife said lodge would adjourn. He and other men, similarly situated, have been playing cards during these dragging hours.

We might mention to the complaining husband that perhaps his wifey has sat up or stayed awake many nights waiting for him, just to tell him—well, you'll have to guess what she might have said.

Controversy Over Argentine Meat Grows
President Roosevelt Says He's Misquoted
Claims Meat Carries Undesirable Germs

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—President Roosevelt says Dr. Leopoldo Melo of Argentina misquoted him, in a speech the latter made in Buenos Aires, to the effect that the White House tenant told him Uncle Sam's sanitary ban on the entrance of Argentine meat into the United States will be lifted after election.

Of course, I don't know anything as to the merits of that particular controversy.

I do know, however, that the ban prevails, on the ground that some of the southern republic's meat harbors germs of an undesirable character. The Argentinos deny this emphatically. They want the ban lifted.

Anyway, awhile ago we bought an order of Argentina canned beef for our navy, not to be imported into our country in defiance of our sanitary ban, but to be loaded onto such of our warships as visited Buenos Aires and eaten up at sea, by our sailors.

It was a purchase which incensed our North American cattlemen. Answering their howls, President Roosevelt stated that it was a handy transaction, that the stuff cost less than it would have cost here at home and that Argentine beef is magnificent eating—which is true, leaving germs out of consideration.

The essential point is that the Argentinos say their meat's as germless as anybody's and there's a good deal of sentiment, strongly unindorsed by our stockmen, in favor of having that ban lifted—mainly toward the promotion of nice Pan Americanism.

Now, it happens that, not far back, I lived for six years in Argentina. I ran a farm there.

All the neighbors told me that I ought to get some pigs. I had considerable corn, locally known as maize, which wasn't very saleable. Pigs, though, love it, and pork was in demand at excellent prices.

So I bought a couple of hundred of the critters.

The neighbors assured me especially that there was no such thing as hog cholera in Argentina. Nevrless, those pigs shortly fell ill of something. They were in bad shape. From the nearby town of San Nicolas I brought a veterinary surgeon to look at 'em.

"Well," said this authority, "they've got aftosa, certainly."

"Aftosa" is the Argentine name for foot-and-mouth disease.

"But," continued the vet, "they also have something else the matter with 'em. It must be a 'peste' of one sort or another."

I already knew that they had a peste, but I wanted a more accurate diagnosis. Accordingly, I jumped on a train and chased down to Buenos Aires to consult the Rural society, which is Argentina's last word on every agricultural or pastoral subject.

Admitted to see the society's boss scientist, I described my pigs' symptoms.

"Why," said the expert, "your pigs have cholera, unquestionably."

"But, my gosh!" I exclaimed. "I thought there wasn't any hog cholera in this country."

"Oh, yes," replied the vet. "The government doesn't admit it, because it doesn't want to discourage swine culture, but we've got lots of it."

"How about serum, then?" I inquired.

"We have it," said the chap, "but we have to be very careful about giving it out. You see, the serum gives a pig a mild case of cholera. He gets over it and then he's im-

ELECTION TIME

The campaign fuss of bygone days
Aside has all been laid.
No longer hand-borne torches blaze
To light a night parade;
Gone is the baby-kissing craze
And gone, pink lemonade.

But now at every picture show
They let the audience see
Some candidate with face aglow
Exclaiming: "Vote for me."
And nightly on the radio
A flood of speech will be.

"My friends!" will be the opening cry,
"My friends!" will be the close
That way all candidates deny
Possessing any foes,
Which is, of course, a pretty lie,
As everybody knows.

But if the turmoil night and day
Unsilenced seems to be,
The ballot is the thing, I say,
Which marks a people free!
An infinitely better way
Than that of tyranny.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

by The Baltimore Sun (Copyright 1940)

Anti-Roosevelt 'Regulars'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.

IN this campaign there is an extraordinary number of extremely uncomfortable Democratic politicians and public men. And they ought to be, because the position they occupy is certainly not one in which they can take pride. Neither their hearts nor their heads approve their present stand.

THE reference is to those Democrats who, despite their earnest desire to see him defeated and their strong distaste for his policies, for personal or political reasons have "risen above their principles" and are publicly supporting Mr. Roosevelt for a third term. Some of these are in Congress; some of them outside. Mostly they are men active in Democratic politics, either holding a Democratic office or ambitious to obtain one.

AMONG them are many of the most bitter opponents of the New Deal, men who detest Mr. Roosevelt's performances and distrust Mr. Roosevelt personally. They include men whom Mr. Roosevelt dislikes very greatly personally, and against whom he has used his power as President in an effort to drive them out of public life. They include men who denounced the Roosevelt Administration more bitterly than any Republican and who are on record as believing a third term for any President would be a national calamity. They are recognized anti-New Dealers, definitely marked as enemies by the White House aides, regarded by the "inner circle" as vicious reactionaries.

NATURALLY, the support of these men is wholly insincere. They have not been converted to the President. They have not changed as to a third term. They feel even more deeply than they did before the convention that the election of Mr. Roosevelt for another term would be a disaster for the nation as well as for their party. They say these things in private, but publicly they have fallen into line for the third-term candidacy. Underneath, they ardently hope for the election of Mr. Willkie; on the surface, they are for Mr. Roosevelt.

EVERYBODY in politics knows who they are and why they are in what is clearly a false position. There are few States in which such Democrats cannot be found. Partly, of course, their Roosevelt support is due to inability to cast off partisan ties; but to an even greater extent it is inspired by fear of what might happen to them politically if the third-term effort should succeed. Some of them are ashamed and sensitive; others are indifferent. It is an unpleasant commentary upon politics that, with one or two exceptions, the only conspicuous Democrats who have come out openly against the third term are those who no longer cherish ambition either to hold on to the party position they have or to gain one they have not.

IT is astonishing that there are not more who refuse to stultify themselves. Of course, it is a Roosevelt weakness that he has so many lip supporters who privately hope for his defeat. But when it is considered that better than anyone else these men know the crude fakery of the Chicago "draft", and the false pretense of the third-term campaign, it is almost incredible that more of them should not cast aside considerations of political expediency and assert themselves as men of principle. The situation was strongly put the other day by Dr. Raymond Moley, who, in a notable speech before the Union League Club in Chicago, discussed the convention and the supineness of these anti-third-term Democrats.

"THE thing that met in Chicago this summer," said Dr. Moley, "was a chain gang moving to the practiced bawling of machine henchmen. The men and women who composed it did not think; they nodded. They did not vote their convictions. They surrendered to their appetites. They did not select a candidate, the candidate selected himself. Who, in the face of that travesty, can still be proud to be a so-called Democrat? There are those, of course, whose party loyalty is so great that they blind themselves to the fact that what is called 'Democratic' is no longer a party. There are those whose party prejudices are so strong that they forget they are Americans. Where, at this moment, are those Senators bearing the label Democratic who, twelve years ago, uttered a clear-cut approval of this (anti-third-term) tradition?"

THE answer to Mr. Moley's question is that they are being "regular". Some of them are supporting the third-term candidate and some are just silent. They all hope he will be beaten but fear he will not. They are just going through the motions But they do not fool anyone—least of all the White House. And whatever the outcome, when the fight is over, they will not have gained in public esteem. On the contrary, to some extent, at least, they will have lost the confidence of those who admired what seemed their courage in standing up for their convictions and who cannot understand failure to stand up now when the reasons for courage are far greater than before.

Two New Wilmington Boys Are In Texas Air College

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept 27 — With very few hills, much less any mountains, to be seen and with the sun beating down at slightly over 90 degrees, letters received from John Reed McFarland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reed McFarland, and Howard Frew, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Frew, who are enrolled in the mechanics course at the Dallas Air college, Texas, indicate that although they are enjoying their work and life at the school, they miss the familiar scenery in Penna's woods.

According to the letters received by the boy's families, they were put to work immediately upon their arrival, aiding competent mechanics and their instructors in repairing an airplane that had crashed the day before their arrival. Usually students beginning the course are placed on hanger duty for at least one week, acquainting them with the routine of the airport. It was due to the rush in preparing ships for the "line", they said, that they were put to work immediately.

The boys are housed in a dormitory, three students to a room. Triple deck cots are provided for their use by the school and they report that their meals are excellent. Last Sunday they had their choice of a chicken or steak dinner and due to the heat, they are served ice cream at meals several times a week. Their working hours for the past week have been from 6 a. m. to 10 p. m., classes being held from 7 to 10 in the evening.

All students are required to wear coveralls to work and at the end of the week, as John Reed put it, "they're so stiff when I take 'em off that they chase me around the room." Each student wears one pair of coveralls a week and are required to report for work on Monday with a clean pair.

The climate at Dallas, both report, hovers around the 93 degree mark during the day, but with the setting of the sun, the temperature decreases until it is quite cool. The portion of Texas in which they are located is a comparatively flat country and the boys indicate in their letters that it seems strange not to have at least a small hill with walking distance.

mune, but while he's got it he can pass it on to other pigs. Hence, unless we're discreet, we simply will be scattering the disease all over. You do this, then. Send us one of your sick pigs. We'll examine him and if we find, as I'm sure we will, that he's a sure-enough cholera patient, we'll give you the serum."

"But how am I to get him here?" I queried.

"Put him in a crate," advised the doc, "and send him by railroad express."

"I don't believe," I reasoned, "that the railroad will accept such a sick pig." I'll do myself this much justice. I didn't say an "ill" pig.

"Yes, it will," said the vet. "If the animal's correctly addressed to the Rural society, he'll get through o. k."

What do you know about that! Make sure that your pig has a violently contagious disease. Then put him in a crate, with cracks between the slats, to let his germs escape. Next, ship him in an express car, for four or five hours, through an intensively swine-raising section, scattering his bugs on both sides of the right-of-way.

That's the Argentine idea of sanitation.

To sum up:

I've got my suspicions that Argentine pork and beef and mutton have a certain number of germs mixed in with 'em, no matter how sanitary the Argentinos may allege to the contrary.

"The President should have consulted Congress," complains a Senator. Alas! there wasn't time for six months of oratory.

In Memory

In memory of Frank Conway, who passed away two years ago today, Sept. 27, 1938.

There is someone who misses you sadly.
And finds the time long since you went.
There is someone who thinks of you always,
And tries to be brave and content.

60-FOOT WHALE IS CUT IN HALF BY JAPANESE LINER

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO—A marine collision with strong results was related by Capt. Shunji Ito of the Japanese liner Tatuta Maru when the liner berthed at San Francisco after a trip from Yokohama.

"Several hundred miles west of the Hawaiian Islands the ship lurched and almost came to a stop," Captain Ito reported. "We thought we had struck a submarine. A quick checkup showed, instead, that we had sliced a 60-foot whale in two."

A school of giant sharks, some of them 30 feet long, immediately attacked the whale's carcass and tore it to bits, the captain said.

Farewell Given Rev. R. T. Williams

Congregation Gathers On Thursday Night In Tribute To Departing Pastor

LEAVING SHORTLY FOR UTICA CHARGE

On Thursday evening, the First Congregational church on East Reynolds street was filled to capacity when members and friends gathered to bid their pastor, Rev. Rees T. Williams, farewell. Rev. Williams will take up his new field of work in Utica, N. Y., on Sunday, October 6. He has been pastor of the church for the past 11 years and his leaving not only saddens the members but also the whole community.

An interesting program took place, opening with the singing of hymns, led by Griff Thomas. Accompanying at the organ was Mrs. John M Evans of Clairton.

William P. Williams introduced the chairman of the evening, Henry T. Jones, who took charge of the program. The opening prayer was given by Rev. Thomas Francis, followed by brief remarks given by Griff Thomas, David P. Lewis and David Evans, deacons of the church, the latter presenting a poem dedicated to Rev. Williams.

Mrs. Griff Thomas spoke in behalf of the deaconesses, while William P. Williams and Joseph T. Richards gave similar remarks in behalf of the trustees of the church.

Jack E. Mathews, president of the Dramatic society of the church, and David J. Price, superintendent of the Sunday school, spoke highly of the honored one as a leader among young people. Edward Gardner, president of the Lawrence County Christian Endeavor, responded with fitting remarks, stating that Rev. Williams will not only be missed in the church, community, but also in the whole county as has been the pastor counselor of the Endeavor for the past two years.

Rev. Calvin Rose of the Second U. P. church represented the ministerial association, speaking of Rev. Williams as a "real man", likewise did Rev. Charles Burton of St. Andrew's, Rev. Robert Withers of St. Johns Methodist churches and Rev. Francesco P. Sulmonetti of the Italian Methodist church. William J. Davis of Florida, formerly of this city and one of the oldest members of the church, presented a poem in honor of the pastor. A charter member, William Powell, made brief remarks.

James G. Davis, chairman of trustees, presented Rev. Williams with a personal gift in behalf of the congregation and friends, and he in turn responded in a most appreciative manner. He also gave a brief summary of his 11 years as pastor in the city.

Griff Phillips and William Lloyd, Jr., both of the Emmanuel Baptist church, contributed remarks, the latter presenting Mr. Williams with several handsome gifts in behalf of the Willing Workers class of the Emmanuel church, which he has aided from time to time with his services. A Welsh poem, written by William Phillips, was given by Griff Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. John Evans, former choir director and organist of the church, were presented with a lovely electrical gift in behalf of the choir members with Griff Thomas making the presentation. Mr. and Mrs. Evans now reside in Colohial Village, Clairton, Pa.

The meeting was closed with the singing of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" after which the benediction was given by Rev. Sulmonetti.

Refreshments were served at a later hour with a capable committee in charge, including members of the Willing Workers class. Those pouring were Mrs. Griff Thomas, Mrs. Henry T. Jones and Mrs. William Johns. Those responsible for the success of the affair are James G. Davis, cairman; William P. Williams, David J. Price, David P. Lewis, Cecelia Hughes, Henry T. Jones, Mrs. John Coughlin, Mrs. Carl E. Turner and Griff Thomas. Flowers used throughout the church were sent by Mr. and Mrs. William Scherger of R. F. D. No. 1 and the Emmanuel Baptist church.

Christian Science Committee Places Child Evacuees

BOSTON, Sept. 27—Christian Science child evacuees from Great Britain are being placed in suitable American homes by the "Committee of Christian Scientists in Boston for the Placement of European Children," and similar committees in other large cities in the United States and Canada co-operating with them, it was announced here by The Christian Science Board of Directors.

NEW CASTLE RESIDENT IS "FEELING LIKE NEW"

"I Had Almost Lost Faith In Medicines," Declares Well Known New Castle Resident. Gives Facts In Case.

Happy and grateful for the relief brought them by Retonga, more well known men and women throughout this section are daily acclaiming this purely herbal gastric tonic. Among the latest to give Retonga her grateful and enthusiastic public endorsement is Mrs. Olive Stoddard, life long resident of Route 4, New Castle.

"I almost lost faith in medicines and I would like for others to know that Retonga is what turned the tide for me," declared Mrs. Stoddard. "I never felt hungry, and I suffered so terribly from indigestion that often I felt like I never wanted to eat another meal. I never had a bowel movement without taking a strong purgative, and I became so run down and nervous I hardly had strength to stay up all day, or sleep restfully at night. Mornings it was all I could do to muster enough energy to get into my clothes.

"Three bottles of Retonga gave me such wonderful relief that I now have a fine appetite, my elimination is more satisfactory than in years, and the pains and aches have let up. My food gives me plenty of strength, and I sleep and feel like a new person. I know from experience that Retonga is simply grand."

Retonga is a purely herbal gastric tonic intended to increase the flow of gastric juices in the stomach and help nature remove toxic wastes from the bowels. Retonga may be obtained at Eckerd's Drug Store.

'Youth Development Council' Formed To Aid "Boys' Towns"

A promising "Youth Development Council" for New Castle which, in all probability, will be the forerunner to a local unit of the nationally-recognized movement known as "Junior Achievement, Inc.," became a reality when a group of civic club, business, industrial and professional representatives completed its organization in The Castleton last night.

Prime purpose of the organization will be to provide developing "Boys' Towns" here with an adult advisory group which will serve as a "clearing house" in matters of major concern.

Will Help With Problems

To the council the Boys' Town supervisors may turn for advice in many of their problems—and the work and usefulness of the "towns" will be immeasurably increased.

Electing to push forward groundwork plans in complete anonymity, the civic leaders meeting last night agreed to inaugurate their plans promptly.

A conference for the organization of such a community body has been in the planning for several months, a spokesman explained.

He elaborated:

"This is of community concern, and we believe the whole city will benefit. We'll help the boys and the boys will, in times to come, help our city—they'll be leaders before long. We cannot forget that.

"The council will sit as an advisory group to the present Boys' Towns, and help them all it can. We'll furnish a "clearing house" for their problems, recreational and otherwise."

The Junior Achievement organization toward which the council aims is spreading throughout the country and placing worthy, but idle boys, at the heads of their own "home industries".

ARGENTINA PLANS TO BUILD RESERVE OF 5,000 PILOTS

(International News Service)

BUENOS AIRES—A campaign to build up a reserve corps of 5,000 civil pilots in Argentina within the next three years is now underway, it was reported by American Vice Consul Joe D. Walstrom.

Officials of the Argentine Aero Club, which is sponsoring the plan, are confident over 20,000 applications will be received from members of the annual conscription classes between 18 and 28 years of age.

A bill has just been introduced in the Argentine Chamber of Deputies which would authorize the government to invest up to 6,000,000 pesos (ppproximately $1,250,000), for the training of reserve pilots, over a period extending to June 30, 1944.

LONDON REPORT SAYS 98 GERMAN PLANES 'BAGGED'

fighters then pursued the Germans to the channel, reportedly shooting down several on the way.

Fifteen German bombers strongly escorted by fighters crossed the Kent coast and flew into an R. A. F. trap this afternoon, a fierce air combat followed and the Germans retreated across the channel. Several were believed shot down.

New Tactics

New tactics were followed by the Nazi raiders. They came over in small formations followed by fighter groups who piled into the combat when British attacked the bombers.

Furious dogfights raged all morning. On one occasion, three yellow-nosed Messerschmidts were shot down in the space of one mile. One of these Nazis had been machine-gunning a lookout post on a south coast beach.

South London was hard hit. Twenty bombs fell at one spot killing at least four and injuring others. One bomb struck full on the entrance to a factory shelter where 1,000 girls were huddled. Some fatilities occurred but miraculously, most were uninjured.

South London was hard hit, with at least 26 persons dead and hundreds injured. Twenty-two persons, most of them girls, were killed when a Nazi bomb scored a direct hit on the entrance to an air raid shelter at a big factory.

Four others were killed and many injured when 20 German bombs were dropped on another section of South London.

Heroic efforts by rescue squads saved many lives, the workers plunging into the shattered wreckage while the Nazi planes still wheeled overhead.

London, Sept. 27.—At least 11 powerful German bombers were seen crashing to earth today as waves of Nazi raiders attempted a new, daylight raid on London.

The warning sirens in the British capital screeched for the 129th time since the war began as two formations of triple-engined bombers approached London, one from the south and another from the southeast.

Many casualties were caused, some of them fatal, when a bomb exploded in the southern part of London during the raid.

Later in the morning as the attack progressed heavy anti-aircraft fire again broke out in central London as the trails of smoke from several planes, too high to be identified, were seen overhead

Intense anti-aircraft fire heralded the approach of one formation of 16 bombers from the south, all flying low.

A British fighting plane went up and engaged the last bomber in this group. After one long burst of machine gun fire this German machine hurtled to the ground in the eastern part of London.

Terrific anti-aircraft barrages broke up the Nazi formation when the remaining planes reached central London, where another four machines were sent crashing to earth in a southwestern district of the city.

Five Shot Down

The second attacking formation suffered similarly when five of its planes were shot down in the capital's southeastern outskirts and the rest were dispersed.

An 11th plane was shot down over southwest England. Its crew of three German airmen parachuted to safety and were captured.

Five of the raiders crashed in Orpington and Chislehurst. One of these machines was hit by anti-aircraft fire. As it plunged toward earth its four crew members parachuted to safety.

British fighting planes accounted for the other four victims in the second German formation.

During the attack several bomb explosions were heard in southwestern districts of London and one woman who preferred to watch the battle instead of taking shelter was wounded by a machine gun bullet.

One flight of Germany's crack yellow-nosed Messerschmidt-109 planes crossed the Kent coast in arrow formation but effective ground fire forced them back over the channel.

The failure of these German fighting planes to pierce the coastal barrage forced the bombers to continue their course toward London without protection and left them easy victims for the British pursuit planes that swarmed into the sky.

A formation that attempted to reach London from the southeast numbered 20 bombers.

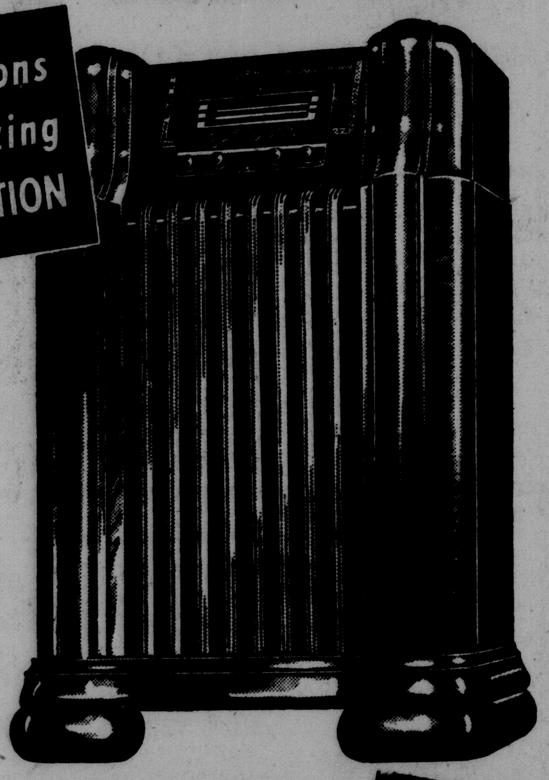

SAVED BY A MIRROR

Saved by a mirror. That is the report of a barber and a customer after an irate bull invaded a barber shop in Varese, Italy, while on its way to market. When the snorting and bellowing animal appeared the barber was shaving the customer and both men fled. Seeing its reflection in the mirror, the bull lowered its horns and charged. The entire shop was wrecked before the dazed and angry beast was captured.

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—The National Defense program was raised to a grand total of $16,722,884,396 Thursday as the house appropriations committee reported a new deficiency bill carrying $1,469,993,636, to finance the draft, speed airplane production and finance other defense activities.

The new bill carries $668,915,090 to provide actual training for 800,000 conscripted men during the present fiscal year which ends next June 30. An additional $24,825,108 was recommended to finance the draft system.

"Assuming that this bill becomes law, the congress will have made available to the army and navy for the fiscal year 1941 a total of $8,334,700,507 by way of immediate appropriation and $3,802,132,009 by way of contractural authority," the committee report said. "The total would be $12,136,832,516.

For Two Ocean Navy

"That sum excludes commitments, sanctioned for constructing approximately 348 ships two ocean navy) the total estimated cost of which has been represented to be $4,734,051,880."

It explained that approximately $148,000,000 has been provided in actual money for start on the two ocean navy program.

Aviation ordinance $27,000,000.

The committee informer congress that funds are provided to equip a modern army of 1,400,000 men.

The measure provides funds to acquire 19,802 horses, funds for the new $10,000,000 New York graving drydock, funds to acquire and expand the naval supply depot at Bayonne, N. J. and $9,000,000 to expand aircraft production in private plants.

OUTDOOR CHECKER BOARD PROVES TO BE DRAWING CARD

(International News Service)

SANDUSKY, O.—Latest sport to invade the realm of night life is the age old game of checkers.

An enthusiast of long standing, B. J. McGory, president of the Cedar Point Checker Association, has persuaded City Manager Robert L. J. Wager to install lights above the outside board in Washington Park permitting checker players to indulge in their favorite pastime until 11 o'clock at night.

The checker board, perhaps the only one of its kind in the country, has a 20 to 20 foot concrete base and a 10 by 10 foot playing face There is a six inch red granite border around the playing surface and a four-and-a-half foot concrete walk around it next to the border.

Biggest Farm In State Is Horseless

Six Thousand-acre Farm Near Philadelphia Biggest East Of Mississippi

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27—Farming isn't what it used to be.

That favorite plaint of agriculturists finds plenty of justification in the Kings farm near Morrisville, Bucks county. It's the biggest vegetable farm east of the Mississippi—and only a dozen miles from the city limits of Philadelphia.

Kings Company owns a 6500 acre tract stretching along for seven miles at one width. It owns a fleet of 65 motor trucks, 40 tractors; a railroad spur, and has two airplanes under contract.

But the firm owns not a single horse—not one.

"When we started this farm some 10 years ago," explained production manager Alvan C. Thompson, "we decided we weren't going to use horses. We've always managed to overcome difficulties caused by the lack, often by building our own equipment."

The farm has "managed" to do all right without old Dobbin—to the extent of a $750,000 gross business a year.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Mahoning Team Will Be Missed By High School

No Organized Football Squad At Mahoning Junior High This Year

In the past the Mahoning school has supplied a great deal of good football material to each season's squad at the New Castle Senior High School.

The boys would get their first football training and experience on the Mahoning squad under the supervision of Austin Cowmeadow. Upon going to high school a great number of the Mahoningtown boys would find berths on the high school squad.

This year the school board voted to do away with football at the Mahoning school and therefore no organized team has been formed. This year's team finds numerous Seventh Ward young men defending New Castle's colors, but the training of the Mahoning squad will undoubtedly be missed in the future.

PENN STATE TEAM WINS JUDGING DEMONSTRATION

Ralph Baird from Mahoning Twp. Lawrence county, who is a student at Penn State was a member of the meats judging team which won first place in the contest at Eastern States exposition.

This is the third victory for the Penn State team. This gives Penn State permanent possession of the trophy awarded by Eastern States Exposition.

Robert C. Campbell of State College won first place in the contest. He was first in beef, second in pork and third in lamb. Ray Butt, of Bangor, Pa., was second. He took first in both pork and lamb judging. Ralph Baird was the third member of the team and placed seventh in the contest. Baird was also a member of the livestock judging team which took second place in the intercollegiate contest which was won by the Cornell University team. Other members were Morton V. Jenkins of Mansfield, Dutt Campbell and Samuel A. Dunn of Landisburg.

DEEP LITTER HELPS A POULTRY PROBLEM

Use of deep litter is helping to solve one of the poultryman's problems. The problem is wet little and the new way of handling the situation is gaining in popularity.

Several inches of dry, broken litter and dry crumbled droppings now in the poultry house may serve as an adequate base for the deep litter. All that the poultryman needs to do in the months ahead is to add to this litter as it becomes dirty and as long as it remains dry.

The porportion of dry litter, to droppings should be about twice as much. Addition of new litter is best made frequently and in limited amounts, about enough to cover surface. The hens scratching breaks it it up better than if large amounts are added.

Two functions are served by the deep litter. One is dryness and the other is insulation of the floor. It promotes fowl comfort during deep winter in houses, which otherwise would be colder and it also saves frequent cleaning, the poultrymen's worst chore in winter.

If portions of the litter become wet from spilling of water or from driving rain, these sections of the litter can be removed and part of the dry, broken litter can be raked in to take the place of the removed material.

PRUNING INFORMATION AVAILABLE TO GROWERS

"Prune when the knife is sharp" is an old saying that does not seem to be supported by scientific investigation. Though considerable summer pruning formerly was practiced this proceedure has fallen into dissuse.

At one time it was believed that summer pruning encouraged fruit bud formation. However fact finding investigation has disproved this belief. There is general agreement today that pruning should be done during the dormant season.

Many growers began pruning as soon as convenient after the leaves fell and continued if necessary until growth started in the spring. Unfortunately, the cold winters of 1933-34 and 1935-36 caused considerable loss in Pennsylvania orchards and it was observed that trees pruned in the fall suffered more serious winter injury than those pruned in late winter or early spring This injury was particularly noticeable in the poorer healing of pruning cuts and subsequent decay.:

Thus it appears that if the grower could do all his pruning in a week or two, the best time probably would be late March. Since this is impossible or at least impractical in large orchards, the question is when to start pruning with comparative safety. This date, while variable with different seasons, probably will be near February 1.

The new circular on "Pruning Apple Trees in Pennsylvania" gives detailed information on methods and results of pruning. The publication may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

PENN STATE TO HAVE POULTRY SHORT COURSE

The Pennsylvania State College will have a poultry short course November 4 and 5, followed by sessions of the Pennsylvania State Poultry Association the next three d rasy.

All the members of the resident instruction research and extension staffs in poultry husbandry will appear on the program of the short course which will deal with the various phases of poultry management.

The first day of the association meeting will be devoted largely to problems of the turkey grower. On the second day —marketing, parasite control, and chick sexing will be discussed. Problem of the hatchery will be on the program for the final day.

WAYS TO MODERNIZE LAST YEAR'S WARDROBE

Most everyone has some garments in last year's wardrobe which need only a slight amount of the retouching to make them ready for fall wear. Perhaps it is only a matter of hems or necklines.

The silhouette, the mark of the new fall clothes, is about equally divided between the narrow "pencil-like" and the flaring skirt, explains Miss Julia Markle, home economics Extention represenative of Lawrence County. The latter is a graceful flare, not the extremely full one of last year.

The best skirt length for you is the becoming one, no matter what stylists say about the number of inches.

Necklines seem to classify themselves under three general types: the collarless, which is high and round or V-shape; the small flat round collar and the typical tailored neck with collar and revers. If you prefer a collar, why not make one of velveteen using velveteen also for cuffs, belt, or pocket flaps, depending upon the type of dress.

When it comes to combining colors and fabrics, try two textures of the same colors. For xeample, velveteen with smooth wool or silk or satin with dull crepe. This is a new feature in fabrics for fall.

Miss Markle suggests a few designs which offer an opportunity for combination of colors and fabrics: a one-piece dress with a bolero front of a gay print or plain crepe: suspender skirts and jumpers with contrasting blouses for the younger generation; and vests of velveteen to wear with wool dresses.

This year your dress may have contrasting back and front, or sleeves and belt that contrast with the blouse and skirt.

Your last year's evening dress will look like new with a bright jacket in velvet or metal cloth or a shawl. Another suggestion is to remove the bodice and make a sheer blouse.

This is a "suit" year and contrasting blouses or jackets suggest an endless variety of interesting and attractive combinations.

GERMANY, ITALY AND JAPAN SIGN MILITARY PACT

a naval base at Singapore undoubtedly played a part in the agreement.

Germany, Italy and Japan now take the attitude, it was said, that the next move and decision lie with America. It is a case of "take it or leave it", but in the meantime, German officials said, the agreement means that Britain is doomed regardless of what Washington does.

Announcement of the pact was described as another characteristic Hitler "blitz" move to forestall "footloose American intervention in the far east on behalf of England" by allying himself with Japan.

Spain As "Mother Country"

In the immediate future, informed quarters said, Germany and Italy will begin to deal with Spain as the "mother country" of Latin-American nations, and although plans in this regard are not yet complete, this arrangement stands in the offing as "another vital and potential link in the axis anti-American front".

The pact was signed in the chancellery before an audience composed mostly of journalists. No diplomats were present except German, Italian and Japanese keymen. Ironically, in view of the nature of the pact, the Japanese ambassador, Saburo Kurusu, is married to an American woman. The Japanese envoy was the only official present in civilian clothes.

Hans Dieckhoff, German ambassador to Washington long since recalled, was among the Germans present. Others were Chief of Staff Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, Air Force Marshal Ernst Milch, Flying Ace Ernst Udet and Heinrich Himmler, chief of the Gestapo.

Agrement Signed

Signing of the agreement took but ten minutes. While von Ribbentrop started reading an official German declaration, Htiler leaned back in his red leather chair, staring at the chandelier. He remained silent throughout the proceeding, but conversed with the emissaries in his study later.

The agreement, with its strong anti-American implications, came hardly as a surpirse to correspondents in Berlin. In the last few days a marked inclination to regard Americans living in Berlin as allies of Great Britain has been noticeable in the capital.

Under terms of the agreement, foreign Minister Joachim Van Ribbentrop announced, Germany and Italy recognize Japan's leadership in expanding and creating a "new order" in the far east.

In return, his announcement said, Japan sanctions and approves the search by Germany and Italy for increased "living space" in Europe.

Any power not engaged in hostilities at present which seeks to intervene in the affairs or attack any partner in the history-making agreement "will have to deal with the concentrated power of 250,000,000 people" VonRibbentrop said.

Powers To Cooperate

Should such aggression occur, the three powers will cooperate on a basis "under which they will assume mutual obligations and assist each other by economic, military and political means."

Inasmuch as the United States and Soviet Russia are the sole major powers at present not engaged in conflict, the warnings to America was clear.

In disclosing the agreement, Van Ribbentrop said it would prove of "greatest importance to the three countries concerned as well as to the world."

The pact stated:

"The three government considers it a pre-condition for lasting peace that every nation receive the room due it."

The new agreement was signed in the Reichschancellery in the presence of Chancellor Hitler, a great number of German officials and members of the Italian embassies.

Von Ribbentrop signed for Germany, foreign minister Count Galeazzo Ciano for Italy and the Japanese ambassador for his government.

The pact stated that Germany Italy, and Japan are "resolved to co-operate in Europe and in greater east Asia with the foremost aim of creating a new order for the welfare of nations."

Points In Pact

The six point pact provides:

1—Japan recognizes and respects the leadership of Germany and Italy in creating a new order in Europe.

2—Germany and Italy recognize and respect Japanese leadership in establishing a new order in Great East Asia.

3—The three nations have agreed upon common economic and military measures and to stand together if an outside power opposes any one of the three.

4—Should opposition from an outside power become threatening, Germany, Italy and Japan will consult upon steps to be taken.

5—There will be no change in the status quo in individual relations between Germany, Italy and Japan on the one hand and soviet Russia on the other.

6—The pact becomes effective immediately upon signature and will remain in effect for 10 years.

The provisions of the pact said Germany, Italy and Japan will cooperate on a basis under which they will assume mutual obligations and assist each other by economic military and political means in the event any one of them is attacked by a power not engaged in the present European conflict.

Conscripting business is a strategic blunder. Who can the politicians now blame for delay of defense plans?

There are times when we wonder if Uncle Sam's greatest need isn't a four-letter word beginning with "g."

DIPLOMAS ARE GIVEN NURSES

ters of St. Francis whose generosity and interest resulted in the erection of the new nurses' home.

Miss Marie Dutkiewicz, one of the most talented vocalists in the district, presented two selections, "The Old Refrain" and "Alice Blue Gown." She was accompanied by Miss Helen Dombroski. Mrs. Fred Emery, accompanied by the Emery Orchestra, offered a pleasing violin solo.

Presents Diplomas

The next speaker, Adolph S. Green, head of the board, pointed out that another year has passed and another class of brave soldiers is ready to extend its efforts toward human nature. "The hospital is proud of you. You young ladies have worked hard. You have earned this passport which you are about to receive," Green said.

After congratulating the sisters for their untiring efforts, Green presented diplomas to the following young ladies:

Pauline Akla Louis Szenborn, Phyllis Antoinette Scungio, Roberta Leah Stitzinger, Helen Louise Campbell, Florence Ann Cunning, Dorothy Mae Clingan, Mary Eileen Smith, Alice May Reed, Marguerite Dona Jean Moretti, Catherine Lucille Nastas, Mary Juliette Thomassy, Jean Eleanor Tinsley, Nora Helene Thompson, June Elizabeth Doyle, Doris Louella Miles, Ida Belle Cotton and Eugenia Matt.

Dr. Snyder Speaks

Following a selection by the orchestra and two vocal solos by Samuel McCleary accompanied by Edwin Lewis, Kirkpatrick introduced Dr. E. U. Snyder, of New Castle.

The physician gave a synopsis of the history of nursing. "A successful nurse is well educated, sympathetic, a hard worker, has a soothing touch, has patience and has foresight," Dr. Snyder pointed out.

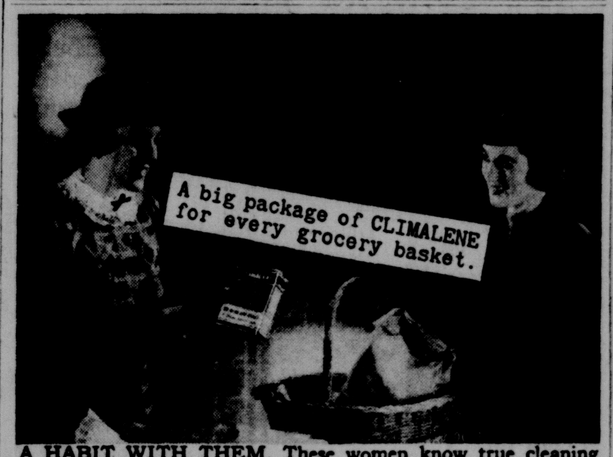

He said that in 1939, there were 1,328 schools of nursing in the United States. Yearly, some 20,000 nurses are graduated from these institutions. Dr. Snyder then outlined the various improvements that have been made in medicine. He concluded by complimenting the class and the sisters.

The program ended with a violin solo by Mrs. Fred Emery accompanied by the orchestra.

For the occasion, the stage was transformed into a sight to behold. The platform was neatly banked with ferns, palms and cut flowers. Members of the classes were attired in their snowy white uniforms and wore corsages.

The exercises marked the completion of three years of studies for one of the biggest classes the south side hospital has graduated.

America still has influence. The more help we give, the more French colonies decide to join England.

Garden Forum To Have Expert On Shrubs Speak Here

Fine Series Of Winter Programs Being Planned By Garden Clubs

Under the direction of Nick Casillo, program chairman for the Lawrence County Garden Forum, and members of his committee, a fine series of winter programs is being arranged for the organization.

First in the series has been announced for Monday evening, October 14, when Dr. George L. Dixon, of Poland, O., will be the guest speaker. Dr. Nixon is an expert on berried shrubs and he will speak on that subject and have 25 varieties on display.

The meeting will be held in the W. N. Aiken school building, Pearson street, and anyone interested in learning about berried shrubs will be welcome to attend. It is expected that large delegations from all of the county garden clubs will attend.

Members of the Mahoningtown Garden club will serve as hosts for the meeting.

Fall Boy Scout Field Meet Will Be Held Saturday

Afternoon Program At George Washington School For Youths Of County

Several hundred Boy Scouts, representing nearly every troop in the Lawrence County Council, will gather at the George Washington Junior High school athletic field at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon for the fall field meet.

Scout leaders from as many troops as possible are urged by Scout Executive John J. Finnessy, to attend the meet and to serve in the capacity of judges.

Eight different events have been planned, all being based on actual Scout work as set forth in the official Scout manual.

Bell To Call Back Thaddeus Stevens Alumni On Monday

The Thaddeus Stevens school bell will toll at intervals from 7:45 o'clock Monday evening September 30 for the annual business meeting of the Thaddeus Stevens Reunion association.

One-time pupils of the East Washington street building meet twice yearly, in the summer at Cascade and in the fall at the old schoolhouse. Fall sessions are given over entirely to business.

T. Humphrey Richards, president, said the Class of 1899 will be presented with a loving cup Monday night for having the largest representation at the summer reunion. By-laws which will govern the future activity of the organization will be submitted for approval.

Richards said the meeting will start at 8.

"Conscription" says a Senator, "will give us a dictatorship." But probably not as bad as the one we'd get without it.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Every year there are 400,000 wives made widows in the United States.

One-fourth of these widows are under 45 years of age.

They have about 220,000 children under 16 years of age.

Many of these are left without means of support.

A grave economic problem to mothers and children arises.

About 100,000 of widows are past middle life, 55 to 65.

Their chief concern is with self-support.

Each year another 100,000 beyond 65 are made widows.

Few in this class can be self-supporting.

The wise man makes provision for his wife and children.

At no age are women free from fear of widowhood.

The average age of widows at husband's death is 55 years.

Help England beat Hitler won't be the last chore. Next will be the job of saving our civilization from the Communist horde that seizes starving, mob-ridden Europe.

"RUX COMPOUND WAS WHAT I WANTED RELIEVED MY PAINS"

Pennsylvania Man Says Neuritic-Like Pains Broke Into Sleep—Even Lost Much Appetite for Foods—Pleased to Find Relief!

MR. STEPHEN GIBBONS

Confident that others will profit from his experience, Mr. Gibbons, Dilltown, Pa., resident (near Johnstown) tells his story, "In my work I travel over many parts of the country, and naturally I have to be active and feel like standing the rigors of travelling. But lately I have been distressed with neuritic-like pains which not only kept me from sound sleep but even made me lose much appetite for food. I was losing energy as a result and it was imperative that I find a good medicine at once. I heard about RUX Compound so decided to try it for myself.

"I was not disappointed, for this fine medicine did not take long to begin relieving my pains, and now I am greatly relieved and get more rest and sleep. I know that others speak the truth when they praise this good medicine."

Before another day goes by, decide for yourself to try RUX COMPOUND, which your own neighbors and friends praise so highly. Just come to the Payless Cut Rate Store and ask for the Genuine RUX COMPOUND (liquid). Three economical sizes for your convenience.

"IT SEEMS TO ME THAT MANY PEOPLE WOULD BE HAPPY TO FIND RELIEF"

Your Own Neighbors Have Put RUX Compound and Williams Formula to the Test and Praise It to the Skies for the Relief It Brought—Don't Put Off Trying These Fine Medicines, Now!

Pennsylvania men and women who have used RUX Compound with such gratifying results say this splendid medicine brought them more relief—faster relief, than almost anything they had tried for Rheumatic, Neuritic and Neuralgic Pain Attacks.

WILLIAMS FORMULA, the mild laxative, dieuretic and tonic, seems to have equally as many friends, for sufferers from acid-stomach pains, indigestion, dizzy headaches and distress so often due to a constipated condition are equally loud in their praise of this splended medicine.

What Your Own Neighbors Say:

Mr. F. P. Green, 5620 5th Ave., Pittsburgh, has this to say, "Sore, aching pains in my back and legs were keeping me away from work, and besides costing me all this money were making me feel miserable. I was also getting up during the night with bladder pains, and losing sleep.

"I knew I must find relief, so I purchased RUX Compound and also the companion medicine, Williams Formula. I now sleep better with these pains in my back and legs relieved. My bowels have been stimulated, urinary pains are relieved, foods taste better and this has been worth MANY times the small cost of the medicines.

Mr. Ware Reports Relief!

From 712 Seal street, Pittsburgh, Mr. Chas. W. Ware writes in: "I had little appetite, gas pains would bother me and I felt run-down as a result. But since taking Williams Formula I am now enjoying my foods so much more, the distressing gas pains are relieved, I sleep better at night, and am gaining weight as my appetite has increased. I am glad to add my friendly endorsement for Williams Formula."

MR. F. P. GREEN
Make the Test Yourself!

No mater how many medicines you have tried or the price you have been paying for them, if you have been disappointed in the relief you have received, by all means for your own sake, get RUX Compound and Williams Formula. These "prescription-pure" liquid medicines may be taken with confidence on the recommendation of your own neighbors who have given them a chance to prove their merit. If you suffer from Rheumatic-like pains; your rest broken; if constipation causes gas and bloating, headaches and you feel all-in, logy, worthless, do something about it now!

Just come to the Pay-Less Cut Rate Store and ask for your medicine. Three economical sizes, so do not put it off. Get the genuine RUX Compound (liquid) and Williams Formula. Stubbornly refuse any substitutes.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Babson's Observations After Tour Across U. S. Much To Enthuse Over

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright—1940—Publishers Financial Bureau

BABSON PARK, Sept. 27.—Like visiting Florida, everyone should take at least one good motor trip in a lifetime. Easterners should get in their cars and drive West, while Westerners should drive East. From the east to the west coast the trip can be made comfortably in eight or 10 days. I am no spring chicken, but it is not tiring to an old chap. In fact, I relax physically, thoroughly enjoy myself, and secure a good brain dusting. I heartily recommend such a trip.

BABSON

Take More Auto Trips

Each widely separated group certainly should see how the other half of the country lives. When taking such a trip, talk with people along the way. This is most important if one wishes to learn something of the way the other fellow is thinking. Go one way by car, as I did, and then ship your car back and give the railroads a break. They need it! It costs just about as much to ship my car by rail from Los Angeles to Boston as was spent on gas and oil going West.

For many months to come—yes, perhaps for years—many parts of the world will be closed to us. Students who last year won scholarships at the Sorbonne or at Oxford cannot fill their appointments this fall. Department store and specialty-shop buyers cannot go abroad this year. I, myself, in connection with many other business men, must forego my annual trip to England or the Continent. I doubt if the State Department would today issue a passport to me. This may all be a blessing in disguise. Now, do not get me wrong. I am all for helping Great Britain. If I were a younger man I would get over there by hook or by crook and do what I could to help them out. But I think it high time we looked at our own great country.

What Did I Find?

As far as I can judge our country is in pretty good shape. I am still a bull on the U. S. A. I will never sell her short any more than in my 40 years of security trading I have never sold a share of stock "short". What did I find? Why—I found a great abundance of all sorts of material goods. From east to west and back again over a different route, I saw plenty of evidence to convince me that we all have much in this land of ours that is worth keeping.

I saw paper mills working 24 hours a day; steam and hydro-electric plants with generators overtaxed; elevators full of wheat, corn and other grains; warehouses with bags of sugar piled to the rafters; automobile plants turning out next year's models; tool plants, glass companies, steel mills, aeronautical outfits, chemical units, canning factories, food companies, agricultural implement makers; yes, and arsenals, too. All these were pouring out goods for you and for me to buy—ultimately, too, to pay for. Do not forget that last; it is important.

Whom to Talk With

I found good tourist camps. Slept in a lot of them. By far the majority are good. If I were out of a job tomorrow I would start one on the outskirts of Bostotn. I find today more farm houses than ever before freshly painted. But, remember, I was looking out of my car window. The paint might have been pretty thin. Surely, however, much of the cash the farmer has received in the past few years has gone into improving the appearance of his home, inside and out.

I like to meet and talk with people. It is a pleasure to see new faces. When my employees take a train they sit in a parlor car. Give me the day coach! Who ever thought of speaking to a stranger in a Pullman? I see plenty of bankers back home, but when I shake the Eastern dust from my feet I want to talk with a brakeman, a filling station man, or a real farmer not the kind of man who is buying a farm today because it seems the thing to do. I saw many newspaper editors, mechanics, clerks, waiters and fellows just leaning up against a building. All had more to tell me than I had to give them. For once, I kept my mouth pretty well shut but my ears were open!

What Was Lacking?

I only found a shortage of two things,—parking space and courage! I can, with several million other people, put up with the first, but I cannot tolerate the second. Some day our various municipal fathers will get around to provide the parking space, but we, ourselves, must provide our own courage. Are we wise to this situation?

In spite of the richness I saw, I believe that all the vast land, the huge stocks of raw materials, the finished goods, the great transportation facilities of rail, truck, and air are apparently serving only to make us discontented. What has become of the quality of appreciation? There was hardly an individual who talked to me who did not have something to beef about. Surely, if we do not wake up, many of the things I saw in this wide country of ours will be taken away from us.

We Cannot Quit Now

One of my associates recently said that five years from now we would look back on 1939 and 1940 as the "good old years." He further asserted that there would be no return to "normalcy." Perhaps that is a good word to leave out of the lexicon of the professional economist like myself. Perhaps all of us must ultimately either work harder or face lower standards of living.

Quite probably the man on the street today will not, in his lifetime, lead a wholly peaceful, quiet, and restful life. For years to come he may chiefly be concerned with politics, European affairs, and the state of the nation in general. But we cannot quit. We must go on. Win, lose or draw,—it is your game and mine. Let us quit talking and go to work, remembering that the normal life rightly calls for courage and sacrifice!

Spanish Paper Asserts U. S. Not Neutral In War

(International News Service)

MADRID, Sept. 27.—The United States long ago abandoned neutrality and must now choose between a reversal of policy or immediate entry into the war, the authoritative Madrid newspaper ABC declared today.

Renunciation of neutrality does not represent President Roosevelt's policy, for the attitude of Republican candidate Wendell Willkie is "very similar," the paper said.

Importance of the new Berlin-Tokyo-Rome axis "cannot be exaggerated" ABC said.

"The United States will now have to renounce its plans," ABC said, "or enter the war immediately against the new totalitarian Allies without awaiting completion of its rearmament program."

Four Enlist At Navy Office Here

Four young men enlisted at the New Castle Navy Recruiting office on Thursday. They were: George W. Wolfe, Clarion Arnold E. Walters, Van, Pa.; William E. Donley, New Castle R. D. 1; and Lisle J. Shaffer, 332 Harding street, New Castle.

Wolfe and Walters have been sent to the Naval Training Station, Newport, R. I., for six weeks recruit training. Shaffer and Donley will be sent at a later date.

Shaffer is a graduate of the New Castle high school, class of 1940, and Donley graduated from Shenango high school, class of 1940.

Water Firm Salutes Nine 'Safe Drivers'

A half million miles of safe driving in and about New Castle was fittingly recognized when the New Castle Water Co. awarded handsome lapel pins to nine company drivers.

Superintendent J. Lepere Matthews, making the presentations in behalf of an insurance concern, said: "Each of these men drives 10,000 miles a year in their work—and we're proud of these records."

Six-year safe driving records are held by Louis Krueger, Earl C. Moffatt, John Wooley and Charles M. Usselton; five-year records by Joseph Krueger, Joe Park and Frank D. Usselton, and one-year records by two new drivers, Leonard Krueger and Dale Grimm.

Large Reward For Kidnaper Captors

REDWOOD CITY, Cal., Sept. 27. The wealthy parents of baby Marc De Tristan have arranged a cash reward for the two men who rescued the child and subdued his kidnaper last Sunday in the mountains near Placerville.

Recipients will be Cecil Wetzel, sawmill owner, and Ellis Wood, a logger, who were credited by FBI agents with capturing Wilhelm Jakob Muhlenbroich, German alien charged with the abduction.

The Count and Countess Marc De Tristan, parents of the 3-year-old boy, would not reveal the amount of the reward but the San Francisco Chronicle said it would total "between $25,000 and $30,000," which they will split.

The Use And Abuse Of Wealth

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Christ and the young ruler

"Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven."—Matt. 6:20.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for September 29 is Proverbs 11; Luke 16:1-13, the Golden Text being Mattt. 6:20, "Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven.")

It is wonderful to have been a poor boy or girl and to have risen to riches by your own industry, intelligence, ambition and integrity. But if, after the riches are yours, you become haughty, disloyal to your old friends or family toadying to those whom you think will advance your interests either socially or in a business way, you will have gained nothing. In fact, you will have lost a far more precious possession than money. You will be a smaller and meaner person than you were before. Your success will be worse than failure. "When pride cometh, then cometh shame; but with the lowly is wisdom."

Money can buy much that should give us happiness. It can make us physically comfortable. We will have plenty to eat, nice clothes and a comfortable place to live. It will pay our debts and take care of our bills when we are ill. It cannot, however, save us from psysical suffering or make us really happy. Our lovely home may be the loneliest and most miserable place in the world if we do not have loved ones to share it with us.

And if, by chance, we have gained our riches dishonestly, taking what does not belong to us, either by means of highway robbery or dishonest business methods, we never will be happy, but like the king who wears a crown, our heads will lie uneasily on our pillows, afraid that we will be found out and disgraced.

"Use And Abuse Of Money"

Our lesson today is on the right and wrong ways of using wealth—"the use and abuse" of it. The 11th proverb is all about those who make a wrong use of money and those who make a right use of it. Not all persons who are poor are righteous and "acceptable unto the Lord" by any means. Poverty, in fact, often fosters conditions that make people steal and do other wrongs. But it still is true that the temptation to make money, whether by fair means or false, and to accumulate more, is the cause of many a moral downfall.

"Riches profit not in the day of wrath," says the writer of Proverbs, presumably Solomon. He rebukes those who hold merchandise back from those who need it when the price is low, and then sell it at exorbitant prices to make a lot of money for themselves. "He that withholdeth corn, the people shall curse him: but blessing shall be upon the head of him that selleth it."

Money can be used only in this world. It cannot be taken with us. It may not even be a help to those we leave behind, but may make them mere seekers after pleasure and mischief-makers instead of useful citizens of the world.

Gossips or "talebearers" are rebuked in another verse of the Proverb: "A talebearer revealeth secrets; but he that is a faithful spirit concealeth the matter."

"A gracious woman retaineth honor," Proverb says, and goes on to speak of the merciful man of whom Jesus said: "He shall obtain mercy." "The merciful man doeth good to his soul: but he that is cruel troubleth his own flesh."

Parable Of Dishonest Steward

The latter part of the lesson is taken from Luke 16, where Jesus tells a parable about a dishonest steward who was found out and dismissed from his master's service, but who cleverly provided for himself so that he would not have to do menial work or beg.

A steward was the agent of his master, collecting rents, overseeing the work of the estates and keeping the records. The master found out about his crooked transactions and dismissed him from his service. So the man went to those who owed his master a great deal of material and arranged that they should pay said master only a part and the rest should be saved for him. He was a clever rogue, but I wonder how happy he was in living on such ill-gotten gains.

Jesus concludes the parable by saying:

"If, therefore, ye have not been faithful in the unrighteous mammon, who will commit to your trust the true riches?

"And if ye have not been faithful in that which is another's, who will give you that which is your own?

"No servant can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon."

We can make our choice. Either we choose to "lay up for ourselves treasures in heaven," by living righteously, being honorable, kindly, merciful, just, understanding; or we can simply seek this world's wealth and ignore the finer parts of our nature. But we are warned by that wise man, Solomon, that

"He that diligently seeketh good procureth favor: but he that seeketh mischief, it shall come unto him.

"He that truseth in his riches shall fall: but the righteous shall flourish as a branch."

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

BOWEL CONTROL

I don't suppose anything gives a mother more pleasure than to be able to announce to other mothers that she has taught her baby to control bowel movement. I have talked to a lot of parents who pooh-pooh the idea that young baby can be taught not to soil its diapers, but I know differently. Our experience with the Dionne Quintuplets in the early days showed me just what can be accomplished through patience and perseverence.

The trouble is that many a mother waits until the child is six months or more before she decides that little Jimmy might begin to learn proper toilet habits. Then, when she has difficulty, she becomes discouraged. Actually, during his first six months that baby has learned a lot of bad habits as far as bowel control is concerned. So he has to unlearn these before he can begin to master the proper ones.

The time to start a child on the path to proper toilet habits is before he has learned any careless habits. Obviously that will have to be right after he is born. As soon as possible, in fact.

All this is somewhat of a new departure in the field of child hygiene, of course. Twenty or thirty years ago, we never thought of such a thing as teaching a new-born child bowel control. So, you mothers, don't be upset if some of the older generation laugh at you when you start it. Remember, the old timers know plenty about bringing up children. But they don't know it all, for new wrinkles are being discovered every day.

I think the proof of the fact that children can be taught toilet routine lies in the fact that children today graduate from diapers to panties much sooner than they did a few generations ago. I would say that today, the young idea dons pants at about eighteen months, or less. When I first began to practice over thirty years ago, the pant age was nearer two years.

Don't put off the bowl control routine for more than the first month of the child's life. We all know that as soon as the baby has its first nursing, then digestion begins and as the food passes down into the bowels, these organs begin to do the work nature intended. These bowels work with a certain rhythm, and a watchful mother will soon catch on to this rhythm. That is, of course, the baby's bowels will have a rhythm so long as his feedings are kept to a regular and strict schedule.

Tomorrow: More About Bowel Control.

PEARSON STREET GIRLS MAKE PLANS

Members of the Pearson Street Girls club gathered Tuesday evening at W. N. Aiken school, at which time plans were made for a skating party to be held in October.

A sewing center is sponsoring a weekly sewing class for the club.

Three new hostesses were appointed for the next meeting: Louise Martone, Marie Morella and Lillian Petrilli. Tresa Petrilli brought the meeting to a close.

The next president may die. The question is, would you rather trust Wallace or McNary to rule us in these times?

Six business days remain in which the unregistered voter can get himself satisfied for the election on November 5. Efforts in this county to get the unregistered vote on the books has met with considerable success but it is thought there are still five or six thousand voters yet to get.

The registration office is busy but in order to accommodate those who cannot get to it in the day time it is possible that Charles D. Ross will keep the office open several nights next week. Closing time on October 5, is the closing of any chance to get registered for the election on November 5.

Frank W. Hill, county controller is in Beaver Falls attending the convention of the Pennsylvania county controllers' association. On Wednesday night the controllers had a banquet at which Emil Lelenko, of New Castle, was the entertainer. Thursday night Secretary of Internal Affairs, William S. Livengood spoke and tonight the closing banquet will be held.

Monday night September 30, election officials of all the 100 precincts are urged to be at the court house to attend the instruction on meeting to be held by the county commissioners. The governor has asked that election officials act as registrars for the selective draft registration and it is hoped Lawrence county men and women will respond.

Volunteers are asked for to aid the election officials and any man or woman who is willing to give a fews hours on October 16 registering men is asked to communicate with the county commissioners.

Student Aviation Course Provided At Westminster

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 27.—Westminster College will offer a concentrated course in student-aviation this semester, to which not only present Westminster students are eligible, but also anyone having two years' college work in an acceptable college or university, according to Dean M. R. Kelso, supervisor of the civil aeronautics course at Westminster.

This semester, students will attend ground-school classes two or three times a week, probably in the evenings; and will receive flying-training at the airport several times weekly.

Ground-classes, taught by Dr. James Swindler, physics department head, will include meterology, weather elements, pressure, humidity, precipitation, cyclones, air-masses and similar phenomena in the "meterology" class. In "navigation," students will be instructed in systems of pilotage, dead-reckoning, use of radio-aides, map-reading, wind-drift, and similar problems.

At the flying field, in "Aircraft Operation" classes, students will be taught the theory and practice of flight, engine servicing, aircraft inspection, and parachuting, under the guidance of Pilot William Ice, New Castle.

In 1799 the discovery of a 17-pound gold nuggest started a gold rush to North Carolina. The state was the chief gold-producing state of the union until 1849 when the California discoveries were made.

Stock Market Is Reactionary

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The stock market reacted further today on news of the Japanese-axis alliance. Leaders were down a point or more before meeting support, but the retreat was orderly and trading continued at a slow pace.

Dow Chemical was one of the weaker issues, losing almost 3 points at one time. This was an exception, however, to the general rule of declines ranging from fractions to more than a point.

Leader Quits New Deal Rule In Liverpool

Prominent Democrat Is Bitter In Denouncing Roosevelt And Third Term

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Sept. 27.—C. V. Beatty, Democratic state committeeman from the Eighteenth Congressional district, a delegate to the Chicago convention in July and chairman of the Columbiana county board of elections, denounced President Roosevelt's third term aspirations and announced publicly here Thursday that he will support Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, in the November 5 election.

"Enough is plenty," Beatty said in declaring he supported Mr. Roosevelt in 1932 and 1936, but he will not vote for him in 1940.

Beatty assailed Roosevelt's policy of gold purchases, "dictatorial attitude and "spending policy" and praised Willkie as "honest, courageous, fearless, ambitious, energetic and dynamic.

"I am an American first," Beatty said. "I did not leave the party, but rather the party left me. I should prefer to remain Democratic, but I do not intend to support Mr. Roosevelt again."

He said Willkie was the choice of "a free and unbossed convention," while the Democratic convention "might just as well have been held in the Oval room of the White House."

Beatty, a Democratic central committeeman here and member of the county executive committee, is a building contractor and lumber and oil company executive.

In ordinary times, $21 was enough for a private soldier. Now that patriotism is needed, it takes $9 more to get it.

U. S. CITIZENSHIP IS SOUGHT BY BALKAN HEROINE

SALEM, O.—Mrs. Lucretia Maniciulea, who as a girl of 23 led the Rumanian army across the river Olt for a victorious surprise raid against the invading Hungarian forces during the World War, is viewing the present European conflict from the safety of this Ohio town, where she expects to receive her final citizenship papers in the Autumn.

Mrs. Maniulea led two complete divisions and the fragments of another across the river for the attack, after two days at Army headquarters under constant fire from Hungarian batteries on the heights on the other side of the river.

Pursued during the remainder of the war by the Hungarians, she was twice captured and court martialed, but never convicted. After the war she was decorated by the late King Ferdinand of Rumania, and she received another medal two years ago when she visited her homeland.

New Packard Cars Displayed Here By Brincko Motor Co.

Color Appreciation Stressed In Packard Car For Coming Year

With fourteen glowing single-tone paint combinations and seven beautiful multi-tone schemes in outside finish, the Parkard Class of 1941 will step out in a harmonious array of rich colors, which may be seen in the new models now being displayed by the A. J. Brincko Motor company of 426 Croton avenue.

In addition, of particular interest to the color-conscious is the fact that twenty basic upholstery options in cloth, and nine in multitone hues are available, with six standard leather options and ten leather and Bedford cord variations.

The degree into which color enters Packard styling in 1941 is evident in the wide selection of matching plastics for instrument panel buttons and other interior fixtures. In the array of colored plastics offered for this purpose are three shades of tan, blue, gray, brown, maroon and green.

All this matches the sleek, new streamlines and general body styling of the powerful Packard car, which keeps up with its usual high standard.

The check for $25,000 given to Charles A Lindbergh for his New York to Paris flight, cost $100 to manufacture It was specially printed and illuminated.

The "singing lake" of Batticaloa, Ceylon, is famed for its musical sounds that rise from its quiet waters each evening. The mysterious music reaches a vivid climax when the moon is at the full.

At a White House reception ex-President Herbert Hoover is said once to have shaken hands with 3,000 persons. His hand was bleeding when he finally gave up and fled.

"The government should support me," says the man. But the people are the government. Why should his neighbors support him?

FRENCH PROTEST ON HAIPHONG BOMBING

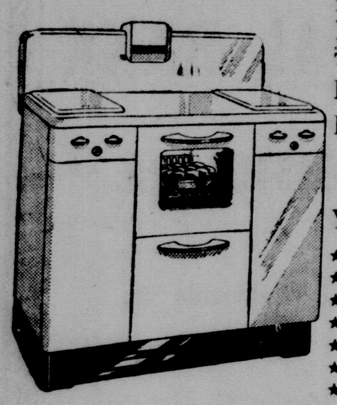

(International News Service)

HAIPHONG, French Indo-China, Sept. 27.—French authorities in Indo-China today lodged a strong protest with Japan against the asserted bombing yesterday of the port of Haiphong yesterday shortly before Japanese forces landed there.

(A dispatch from Shanghai said at least 15 persons were killed when Japanese planes bombed the native quarter near Haiphong.)

But not all manufacturers are invited to cooperate. If they are hated by Mr. Lewis and his C. I. O., they get no business.

Social Service Committee Meets

Round Table Discussion Is Held By Representatives Of Agencies

The first fall meeting of the Social Service committee, organized for the purpose of having all agencies in Lawrence county meet to discuss social problems, was held in the Lawrence County Chapter House, Thursday evening with Rabbi Norman H. Diamond, presiding.

A complete discussion on the Conscription Bill and the Alien Registration was carried on by Miss Thyra J. Fulton, executive secretary, Family Welfare and War Service department of the Lawrence County chapter, American Red Cross.

A discussion was launched regarding the need of city and county nursing service and this is the project the committee is discussing in following meetings.

After 87 years, the New York Infirmary for Women and Children still is staffed entirely by women doctors. It was founded by Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell, America's first woman doctor.

To help keep brush bristles stiff, soak them every two weeks in salt and water in the proportion of two tablespoons salt to a cup of cold water. Always hang brooms or brushes up so bristles won't be bent.

Family Welfare Service Of Red Cross Chapter Grows

The Family Welfare War Service Department of the Lawrence County Chapter of the American Red Cross under the directorship of Miss Fulton has had an active ten months.

The department deals with the veteran, his family and his parents. Any problems a veteran has becomes the problem of the Red Cross. There is no problem too trivial. The veteran may seek an increase in his compensation or he may be filing for compensation for the first time. He may wish hospitalization and to secure the consideration of the Veteran's Administration, must have forms, affidavits, and doctor's statements. The Red Cross War Service Department assists in making out the forms, calls on individuals regarding the affidavits and contacts the doctor. The Red Cross never rejects any veteran. The Veterans Administration oft times refuses hospitalization but the Red Cross never says no.

The widow of a veteran may wish assistance in securing her pension, a bereaved family may desire to file a Burial Claim—all these are services of the Family Welfare section of the War Service Department.

'In making the report for the ten month's period, Miss Fulton shows a remarkable gain over the preceding ten months.

The report is as follows:

Veteran's cases not acted upon—456.

Office Interviews—1,192.

Home visits and reference calls—250.

Letters written on cases—2,533.

Telephone calls on cases—918.

Total moneys received monthly by veterans, their widows, parents or children, for ten months payable, $1,854.05 monthly—$18,540.50.

Total moneys received in one bulk payment not given each month—$15,841.67.

Total moneys brought into Lawrence County—$34,382.17.

In commenting on the excellent report, Miss Fulton said, "This amount of $1,839.05 monthly will increase as time goes on, as many veteran's compensations are increased as the need is found. Therefore, the Red Cross is bringing in a monthly income to veterans which will be spent in their community."

Elimination Of Accidents Aim Of Red Cross Chapter

Annual Campaign Will Be Inaugurated In Homes Through Junior Red Cross

With the opening of the fall term in the public schools, the Lawrence County Chapter of the American Red Cross launches its annual Accident Prevention campaign under the direction of its chairman George D. Reid.

Mr. Reid has long been interested in eliminating as many hazards in the home and on the farm as is possible. Each year the Junior Red Cross of Lawrence County conducts an accident prevention campaign throughout all the schools, city and county, for the purpose of calling their parents attention to possible hazards in the home and on the farm.

Last year, Mr. Reid distributed throughout the county, through the Junior Red Cross, with the assistance of Dr. John A. Meehan, chairman of the Junior work and Miss Robinson, Junior Red Cross secretary 22,000 check lists of which 12,000 were returned to the chapter office.

In discussing the approaching campaign, Mr. Reid calls attention to the fact that there are more accidents in the home than on the highway and he gives these interesting figures: 16,500 died from falls; 5,200 burns and explosions; over 1,600 from food and drug poisonings and over 1,000 from poisonous gases. Mr. Reid hopes to increase the interest of the parents of the Junior Red Cross members so that each home in Lawrence County will use the check list very carefully and eliminate as many hazards as possible.

Asserts German "Invasion" Forces Sustained Severe Defeat From British Flyers

(Editor's note: Persistent rumors that the Germans already have tried to invade England without success are thrown into sharp relief by this exclusive story by Kenneth Downs, former manager of the Paris bureau of International News Service, now here on leave.)

By KENNETH DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—A severe defeat of German "invasion" forces along the Channel has taken place within the last month, I learned today from a foreign observer who received eye-witness corroboration of the event.

This defeat, as spectacular as it was bizarre, may account for the sensational story carried this week by the London Daily Mail that 50,000 German troops had been destroyed by gales and the R.A.F. off Channel ports, and explains the persistent rumors about a thwarted invasion effort that have been percolating out of European capitals for several days.

Slows Up Invasion Plan

It has likewise slowed up the German invasion plan to the point where most insiders in the United States army now doubt that it can be launched at all this year.

This, according to my informant, is how the Nazi setback took place:

The German command by the end of August had concentrated enormous numbers of ships and barges and infantry, artillery and mechanized forces in the Channel ports in preparation for the invasion of England, just as they had accumulated similar craft, men and material in the Baltic ports last winter, months before the invasion of Norway.

Repeating their Norwegian campaign tactics, the Germans embarked men and machines at many points one day and put out into the Channel a short distance for a rehearsal of the invasion. The intention was to turn around and, upon returning to their bases, "invade" the French shores in the way they hope to invade England in earnest when "der tag" came.

British Caught Enemy

But the British, tipped by a smooth-working espionage system in France, caught the embarked enemy off base. Smashing down in a torrential bombing and machine-gunning attack, the Royal Air Force destroyed a number of ships and barges and exacted a huge toll in lives before the Germans could make shore.

German bodies were washed up for days along the shores of northern France and Belgium, particularly off Le Havre, Calais and Boulogne, where the largest forces were caught.

Thus the R.A.F. for the second time in this war jinxed the German war machine, temporarily throwing it out of gear when it seemed to be running at its best, along the stern coast of northern France. The first time was at Dunkirk when the British brought out their metropolitan air force for the first and only time during the French campaign to inflict a terrible defeat on the Luftwaffe and make possible the "miracle" of the evacuation, staving off the complete disaster which had threatened.

The recent defeat in the Channel, along with the steady pounding the R.A.F. has administered the jump-off ports ever since, has so far set back the German invasion schedule that the U. S. Army intelligence service now believe the chances are at least ten to one against an invasion attempt this year.

However, if the Germans fail to go through with the invasion, it will be the first time since the war started that they will have concentrated great attacking forces with such elaborate preparation for nothing. It will be interesting to note the reaction in this war where "morale" counts so heavily.

The Ottoman empire was for years without a standing army until in 1330 one was made up of forced levies of Christian children. The troops became known as Janissaries.

Builders Plan For Initiation

Expect Large Class Of Candidates Will Be Inducted Next Month

Plans for an initiation ceremony on October 23, when fathers of members and candidates ,along with members of the Masonic Order will be invited guests, was announced by Degree Master Earl J. Moffatt at the meeting of New Castle Chapter No. 1, Order of the Builders, on Wednesday evening. Deputy Master Builder Frank J. Shaffer, presided.

It was voted to extend the date for presentation of petitions until October 9, and these may be presented to Ralph B. Hayes, Joseph J. Wardman, or Mont L. Sweesy until that date.

A committee was named on a builders project which will be undertaken during the fall, consisting of Alvin Paradise, chairman, Mont L Sweesy, Carmen Perro, Jack Williams and Lawrence Cromie.

Carl E. Turner, chairman of the board, introduced Clare B. Book as the new member of the advisory board, succeeding Owen G. Thomas, who recently removed from the city.

The next meeting will be on October 9.

Fooled again! Congress appropriated all those billions and now people are relaxing in the belief that we are actually doing our utmost to arm.

Election Board Officials To Meet Monday Night

County commissioners George H. Bolinger, William R. Walton and Joseph F. Travers today urged all election board officials to attend the instruction meeting in the court house Monday night, September 30 at eight o'clock. The meeting is for the purpose of acquainting election officials with the mechanics of the registration of young men between 21 and 35 inclusive. The registration day is October 16.

In addition to the election officials volunteers are asked to aid the boards on October 16 and the commissioners would like to have such volunteers attend the meeting also.

There is no compensation for the registration of draftees. It is a patriotic duty which has been placed upon the shoulders of election boards and while there is no compulsion upon their doing the work it is thought that none will refuse.

Every man between the ages of 21 and 35 inclusive must register on October 16 regardless of any defects or situation which may later exempt him.

Each draftee will be given a card which he must carry with him at all times. Refusal to register is a misdemeanor and is punishable.

NEW CASTLE-BEAVER FALLS PLAY HERE TONIGHT

SCHOOLBOYS SET FOR ANNUAL GAME

New Castle High "Red Hurricane" Enters Fourth Game Of Year Favorites; Valley Eleven May Give Locals Tough Evening; Roberts May Start Game; Tigers Seek First Victory Here; Kickoff At 8 O'Clock Tonight.

ELEVEN ferocious Tigers from Beaver Falls will be turned loose tonight at 8 o'clock at Taggart Stadium by their coach Frank Walton Awaiting the appearance of the Tigers will be a well trained and balanced "Red Hurricane" of New Castle high

The residents of the East Side need have no fear of the Tigers, as the "Red Hurricane" will probably be sufficiently strong to take care of the situation, according to Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh.

Last year the Red and Blacks were fortunate to eke out a 7 to 0 win at Beaver Falls, meeting a fine Tiger eleven. The New Castle and Beaver Falls grid series began back in 1915 with Beaver Falls winning 9 to 0.

Locals Seek Third Win

New Castle high will go out tonight to try for the third win of the season. Coach Bridenbaugh, following the Thursday night signal drill, announced that he may start Jesse Gunn at right end in place of Parou, who has been bothered by injuries this year, but who has played a great game so far. Roberts, although bothered by two shoulder injuries, has asked Bridy to start him at left half. At the start Otis Burris will be in at right half to kick off.

The New Castle team is not holding this Beaver Falls team lightly. True, Beaver Falls has never defeated a Bridenbaugh coached team; they have tied New Castle, but never have they been able to win. The last Beaver Falls win here was in 1921. This is the fifteenth meeting of the two teams.

Expect Big Crowd

New Castle high has played to close to 25,000 fans in the first three night battles here and the game tonight will no doubt draw a large crowd also. Faculty Manager Nelson has made preparations to take care of a big crowd.

Beaver Falls will no doubt send several hundred here in the hopes of seeing the Tigers upset the "Red Hurricanes." There has been quite a brisk ticket sale, according to Ticket Manager Robert Mills.

Long Run Wins For Campbell

Devico Races 100 Yards To Score Touchdown That Upsets North Hillers 7 To 2

Andy Devico, fleet halfback of the Campbell Junior High football team, raced 100 yards yesterday afternoon at Washington High field to score the only touchdown of a weird football battle. The score was 7 to 2 in favor of Campbell, over the Washington High Panthers.

In the matter of first downs the North Hill boys had 10 and Campbell none. In the first half the Washington team looked impressive, registering a safety when Campbell tried to run the ball from the five-yard line. The visitors were outcharged and outfought the entire game, but a lucky break gave them the win.

Score On Break

The Campbell touchdown resulted when Rhatak took a punt from Donegan back of his own goal line then lateralled to Devico, who eluded the entire Washington team as he sped down the field from his own goal line.

For Washington the playing of Buckingham, Doster and Altman was good in the backfield, with Lewis, Clark and Jamison best on the line. Coach Art Alexander was well pleased with the showing of his boys and believes that they will develop.

Here And There In Sports' Land

Ben Kleckner, promoter of boxing, Youngstown, obviously intends to go in for the "big stuff", his move yesterday having been to hire Arthur Donovan to referee the Roscoe Toles vs Jack Trammel 12-round fight in that city October 12. Toles formerly resided in Warren. Trammel has been up and down and is going up the ladder again. Johnny Dean will fight in one of the bouts.

Wampum and Ellwood City Rod and Gun clubs have combined to stage field trials October 19, on the former's ground along the Wampum-Ellwood City highway. There'll be rabbit, coon and fox dog trials, trap-shooting, small bore, rifle, pistol, high power rifle and also shooting at a deer target in addition to bait and fly casting according to W. E. Grinnen president of the Wampum club. Saturday, at three p. m. the Wampum club will hold a trapshoot to which the public is invited.

Betty Jameson, defending champion of San Antonio, made her way into the semi-finals of the National Women's Golf tourney at Del Monte, Cal., yesterday by defeating Mrs. Gregg Lifur of Los Angeles, 6-5. Clara Callender of Long Beach, Mrs. James Ferrie of Pasadena and Jane Cothran of Greenville, S. C., also entered the semi-final round.

Church Golfers Wind Up Season

Elect Judd Hodge As New President For 1941, Eat Fine Chicken Dinner

Members Given Golf Balls, First Presbyterians Get Championship Trophy

The New Castle church golf league for 1940 came to an official end last night at the Shenango United Presbyterian church on the Wilmington road when 70 members of the league sat down to a delicious chicken dinner, served by the ladies of the church.

Prior to the blessing President Hitchcock called for a minute of silence with bowed heads in memory of the late Max Ludwig, owner of the Castle Hills course.

The dinner was one of the finest that the church golfers have ever sat down to. There was plenty of chicken and all the other essentials for everyone. Nobody got up from the tables hungry.

Fine Program

The dinner began with Rev. J. McIlvaine of the First Presbyterian church offering the blessing. Following which Sam Lewis assisted by Charley Brandstetter at the piano led the group in pep singing. The dinner over the program was taken up by President Tom Hitchcock who after a few brief remarks turned the program over to Jay Rudolph pinch-hitting for Fred Scheppele who was chairman of the program committee.

The first number introduced was a quartet composed of Cliff Young, Sam Lewis, Fred Scheppele and Leonard Kisthart. They sang several very pleasing numbers.

Attorney H. A. Wilkison was the principal speaker on the program and gave a very humorous address on "Mental Golf". His talk was highly enjoyed. At this point the quartet pleased the men with two more numbers.

Trophies Handed Out

At this point in the evening the program was turned over to Johnny Hodge and he gave George Sergent a beautiful trophy for winning the first flight or church league individual championship. Sargent also received two new golf balls.

Jimmy Elder captain of the Presbyterian team was called up and presented with the handsome trophy emblematic of the Church League Championship for 1940. The trophy was donated by Larry Perelman of the Perelman Jewelry company, a member of the league.

Hodge gave out a number of golf balls for various achievements on the golf course during the season. There was much merriment connected with several of the presentations.

Rev. J. J. McIlvaine was called on and gave a very nice talk, telling the men that he thought their organization one of the finest of its kind. He heartily endorsed the league's fine fellowship. Milt Pascoe, secretary of the league, gave a short talk and presented various records that the league members turned in during the past season. Charles "Bugs" Walther of The News sport staff spoke briefly.

Election Of Officers

The final part of the program reverted back to Tommy Hitchcock who made his final speech as president and called for election of new officers for next year.

The election resulted in Judd Hodge being made president; Mont Magill as vice president; Jimmy Elder as secretary and Fred Scheppele as treasurer.

Mr. Hodge thanked the men for their vote and promised to handle the office to the best of his ability.

Indies-Ellwood Battle Saturday

Third Game Of Championship Series Will Be Played At Ellwood City

The third game of the city and county championship baseball series will be played at Ellwood City's Ewing Park field at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, it was announced today by Business Manager Joe Wilk of the championship Lawrence Indies team.

The fourth game if necessary will be played at the Cedar street field, it was understood.

Manager George "Hoss" Zidow did not announce his starting hurler for Saturday, but it will be Savage, Majocha or Wilk. Ferrante or McCready will take the hill for Ellwood City.

If the Indies win they will be the champs of Lawrence county as they have already won the first two games.

Domenick Castele, pinch-hitting for Leo W. Hill, head of the Lawrence County Umpires Association, today announced the following umpires will handle the important Ellwood City and Lawrence Indies game at Ewing Park field, Ellwood, on Saturday afternoon: Joe Diana, Clem General and Dom Castele.

Sixteen States Count Game Kill

Pennsylvania Hunters Almost Hundred Per Cent In Answering Questions

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 27—Sixteen states, including Pennsylvania, are making efforts to collect complete annual statistics or estimates covering the killing of game, Seth Gordon, director of the state game commission said.

Gordon, presenting an analysis of methods used throughout North America to collect statistics on game kill, said that to date a satisfactory mechanism to enforce the requirement has been devised by only five states.

Figures for the 1939 hunting season reveal that approximately 97½ per cent of registered hunters in the state have filed with the commission a record of their kill.

RICHMAN BROTHERS

Wearever Worsted Suits
$22.50

Wearever Worsted is the sturdiest, most serviceable suit of clothes we make, and also holds its shape best.

It is 100% pure virgin wool. It is pre-shrunk. It is closely and tightly woven, and only the longest, strongest wool fibers are used in it.

Mister, here's a suit that can take it. A practical suit, too. No other suit is as suitable for so many different occasions.

Come in and slip into a Wearever Worsted. You will be amazed that a suit so fine, so smart, so well tailored can still be bought for $22.50.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Greetings to the gridiron coterie! Remember us? Sure you do. We provide a bit of weekly slapstick comedy by trying feebly to kid you into believing that we know something about football. Be that as it may, we're imbued with indomitable confidence on the eve of King Football's perennial parade. Ignoring tea leaves, crystal balls, fortune tellers etc., here's how we see them:——

West Virginia-Westminster: Oftentimes we are forced to discuss topics we'd much rather ignore. Here's one. They'll hardly need a photo-finish machine at the end. The Titans way on the short end, about 35-0.

Ohio State-Pitt:—In Columbus, Pitt's purified outfit goes against Ohio State. If it's true that Edgar Jones won't be around and that Pitt doesn't have a blocking right halfback, who is going to halt the Buckeyes? Too much of everything against Pitt. The score, 19-0. . . .

Washington-Minneapolis: — Over in Minnies Apples, the Huskies and Gophers lock horns in one of the top tiffs. This is one of the toughest on the board to pick. Minnie has Geo. Franck and a sprinkling of reserves; Washington has Dean McAdams and a lot of stuff on the bench. Washington to crash through in the second half with a 7-6 decision. . . . .

Duquesne-Waynesburg:— Without wasting words, Duquesne—27-0. . .

Tulane-Boston College:—In one of those cross country affairs, Tulane's powerhouse figures to roll over Boston College, 12-7. . . .

Mississippi-L. S. U.:—Our southern Yogis tell tales about Ole Miss having just a bit of everything. L. S. U. doesn't have gluey fingered Kavanaugh. Miss, 12-6. . . .

Miss. State-Florida:—They're trying to install the Notre Dame system at Florida. Tom Leib can hardly be expected to perform a miracle. State the nod, 18-0. . . .

Carnegie Tech-Geneva:—Geneva is in the same boat with the high school from the same town. Tech will do as it pleases. We'll say, 40-0.

California-Michigan:— California one of the worst clubs among the bigwigs of the coast, has a stiff assignment trying to stop Tom Harmon and his troupe. Michigan, 14-0.

Missouri-St. Louis::—A couple of teams from the show-me-state. Paul Christman will do all the showing and St. Loo will do all the watching. Mizzou by at least a 21-0 count. . . .

North Carolina-Wake Forest:— David meets Goliath in Chapel Hill. The Forest crew is coming up and don't let anyone kid you. North Carolina, with Lalanne and Severin teaming up, has the edge. North Carolina, 13-0. . . .

Southern Cal-Washington State: —The Trojans lost material true, but don't let that fool you. Southern Cal has enough to pin a 24-0 setback on the ears of State. . . .

Duke-V. M. I.:—Here's a game that may catch everyone napping. It doesn't look like a romp for the Blue Devils, although they'll win. About two touchdowns difference...

Purdue-Butler:—For some unknown reason, something tells me that this may be the surprise game. Purdue has been shattered by graduation. Butler has one of its best clubs. It's a grudge game. You can't help but say the Boilmakers, however, 16-6. . . .

Navy-Wm. & Mary:—This clash may be closer to many believe. If Will and Mary decide to boot the spheroid around, Navy will be faced with some of the toughest punting of the season. The Middies, 12-6...

From here in it's soft as mush. We'll just waltz around the countryside:

Tigers-Indians Battle Today

Pennant Hinges On Important Three-Game Series Opening In Cleveland Today

By GEORGE E. MOISE
International News Service Sports Writer

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27.—Outcome of the red hot American league pennant race today was in the hands of Bobby Feller—and the New York Yankees.

Feller was selected by Cleveland Indian Manager Oscar Vitt to keep alive the tribe's faint hope of winning the bunting, a feat that would require the Indians to win not only today, but tomorrow and the next day, and in winning defeat the league-leading Detroit Tigers. Even so, the Indians might have to face the Yankees, who could tie them by winning their remaining games against Philadelphia and Washington.

Yanks Win Two

The Yankees moved up to two and one-half games behind the Tigers yesterday by defeating the Philadelphia Athletics 5 to 4 and 2 to 0 in a doube header. The tribe is two games back of Detroit and only a half game in front of the Yanks. One victory for the Tigers would eliminate the Indians and put them in a position where the Yanks could tie them by winning four straight. Two Detroit wins would sew it up, even if the Yanks kept on undefeated.

Feller's opponent today was to be Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe, the man who came back from the minors to win 16 while losing three in the current season. Rowe beat the Indians in Detroit last week, but Feller beat the Tigers in the Motor City series final Sunday. The youthful speedball artist sought his 28th victory today.

HURT AT WORK

Arthur Minick, aged 43, of 1408 Hamilton street, was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital, Thursday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, for a laceration of the left hand, suffered while at work at the home of Miss Jeannette Hutton, of Boyles avenue. Mr. Minick was putting a hand rail on the porch, and was using a hand drill, which slipped.

George Sisler, of the Browns, hit safely in thirty-one straight games in 1922. The same year Rogers Hornsby connected in thirty-three in a row for the Cardinals. Those are the modern records for the two leagues.

Some new teams appear on Navy's schedule this fall, Cincinnati visiting Annapolis October 5 and Drake two weeks later.

A STATEMENT TO MEN OF MILITARY AGE

With the passing of the Conscription Bill, men of ages 21 to 35, inclusive, are subject to military service. While the selective method which is to be used will not affect every one of you men between these ages, it undoubtedly has made you hesitant about your Fall clothing. We meet this unusual circumstance with a new policy:

A Defense Cooperation Money-Back Certificate

will be issued to all men of military age on purchases, for personal use, made up to and including November 15, 1940. Suits, Topcoats, Overcoats may be purchased on this plan. In the event that you are conscripted and actually enter into the service on or before January 31, 1941, this certificate, with your notice of call, will entitle you to the privilege of returning your entire purchase for FULL CREDIT regardless of wear.

TO THE PUBLIC

Merchandise returned under this plan will be donated to charitable institutions.

Maxie Baer Kayos Comiskey In First

Referee Jack Dempsey Stops Fight To Save Comiskey From Punishment

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 27—Running strictly to form, Max Baer today, paradoxically, was the hero of a fiasco.

The former heavyweight champion who in his day has built many a bon-fire with the candles he burned at both ends, suddenly found somewhere within himself the urge to fight and to win by a knockout in an unbelievably bizarre encounter. The victim, of course, was Patrick Edward Comisky, whose career probably has been blasted for good. He wasn't only beaten in two minutes and 39 seconds, he was humiliated by the outcome of the fight.

Comiskey was the 7 to 5 favorite going into the ring and at 19 quite logically figured to batter down the more or less dissipated hulk of the 31-year old former titleholder.

As the result of last night's doings which left everybody quite infuriated, Baer is back in line for a fight with Louis for the title.

Two Leagues For New Wilmington

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 27—Plans are underway for the formation of two bowling league in New Wilmington instead of the customary one, W. H. Thompson, of the local alleys announces.

The ten pin bowling league is scheduled to begin sometime in November under the direction of Earl Black, czar. An innovation to the alleys this year will be a duck pin league which is scheduled to get underway October 15. Two teams from West Middlesex, one from Hickory and one from New Wilmington are being formed for this league. Thompson announces that he expects several other communities near here to organize teams before the league begins.

Tentative plans call for the ten pin league bowlers to meet on Monday and Wednesday evening while the duck pin bowlers will compete on Tuesday and Thursday.

Alabama Poly is opening its football season in Montgomery, Ala., for the 12th time. Another game will be played there later. Two will be played in Birmingham.

Wabash Bears Without Game

The Wabash Bears football team, one of the fastest semi-pro teams in this section of the state, is without a game for Sunday owing to the New Kensington All-Stars concelling the scheduled Sunday battle at New Kensington, it was announced today by Willie Domenick, president of the Bears club.

An effort is being made by the Bears management to either schedule another game away for Sunday or to arrange to play here with a strong team. Meanwhile the team is working out every night at the E. & A. Field under coaches Harry Tuscano and Albert "Blackie" Adamo.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

After all the talking that the police and the public press has done . . . speeding on Albert street continues . . . today there is a broken hearted little girl by the name of Bunny Bush, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bush of Edgewood avenue . . . her little dog "Tippy" was killed by a hit and run motorist . . . "Tippy" was a neighborhood pet and a pet to all the kiddies in this section . . . his romps and presence will be sadly missed but we would like to state that the result would have been the same if a child had been on the spot as he was only six inches from the curb when hit . . . too many people fly up and down Albert street and all too many people fly across Albert street without paying any attention to the traffic signs. "Tippy" is gone but we hope the hit and run driver reads this and that every one who has occasion to drive this street will in the future reduce their speed and show a little more respect for other people's property and life.

And while we are on the topic of safe driving and the like . . . maybe it would be wise to read a few lines prepared by the AAA clubs of America . . . here is a piece about "Drivers Must Yield on Turns".

Many motorists turning on a green signal do not seem to know that they must yield the right-of-way to pedestrians crossing on the same signal. As greater attention is given to protecting pedestrians, motorists who fail to aid walkers in this way will invite arrest the A. A. A. warns.

Several times during the past year or so we have given this little poem . . . and now we give it again for we believe it tells a lot.

Boost and the world boosts with you,
Knock and you're on the shelf,
For the world gets sick of the one who'll kick
And wishes he'd kicked himself.
Boost for your own achievements,
Boost for the things sublime.
For the one who is found on the top-most round
Is the booster every time.

Ellwood To Play Rochester Tonight

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 27.—With Rochester high school having asked for an unusually large amount of tickets, and a large local following always being assured at a home game, indications point to an overflow crowd at Lincoln field tonight to see Ellwood City high school footballers tangle with the Rochester Rams. The kick-off is slated for eight o'clock.

It will be the second and final night game for the locals under a portable lighting system, and with weather conditions promising to be ideal, the occasion is expected to be a gala one.

Rochester, under Coach Ernie Myers, has 10 veteran players, and despite a setback by a score of 30 to 0 last week at Midland is expected to be the hardest test to date for the Croft-Gills machine. They won their first game by a 38-0 score over Freedom High.

Ellwood has two straight victories over the valleyites, and with the additional sting of last week's defeat, the visitors are expected to put up a terrific battle tonight to get back into the winning column. Last year Ellwood's strong Beaver valley championship team defeated the stubborn Rochesterites by only a 3-0 score when Tommy Murphy booted a perfect field goal.

Croft has decided upon a number of changes in Ellwood's starting lineup because of injuries. Lordo, having made such a remarkable showing last week at Munhall, was rewarded by being given the starting fullback assignment. Matrangol, fullback, has been transferred to right half to replace the injured Snare. Rubino will again take Cartwright's place at quarter, and Presto will be in the line for Wolfe, who has an infected arm.

The local lads are anxious for victory and the game promises to be packed with excitement. Bands of both teams will perform at the half.

A rousing pep meeting was held this morning at the assembly period and was highlighted with the presentation of the Geneva trophy to the local gridders as co-champs with Ambridge High for the 1939 Beaver county championship. M. L. Glover, of the Alumni association, made the presentation and the cup was accepted by Albert Pishioneri, Ellwood's center, who is the only remaining player in school, who was a member of last year's winning eleven. Coach Thurman F. Croft spoke briefly, lauding the fighting spirit of the team that won the championship.

The lineup:

Ellwood		Rochester
Seetch	L. E.	M. Leonard
Ross	L. T.	Paris
Taylor	L. G.	Huzyak
Pishioneri	C.	Polce
Presto	R. G.	Conte
Dudick	R. T.	Buckheimer
Tammaro	R. E.	Hinzeman
Rubino	Q.	Burg
Reino	L. H.	J. Leonard
Matrangol	R. H.	Plevell

"Fluid Drive" For New Dodge Cars

J. R. Rick Says 1941 Models Will Be Available With This Feature

"If there were news of an automobile that would run without having any engine, it could not provoke much greater interest than the announcement, made a few days ago, that 1941 models of Dodge cars will be available with the Fluid Drive," says J. R. Rick, president of J. R. Rick Motor Co., Dodge dealers of this city.

"Ever since the release of that information we have had a veritable deluge of inquiries regarding what the Fluid Drive is like, how it operates, why it is an improvement over the conventional drive.

"Fluid Drive is one of the things that are difficult to describe in words; one must experience it by seeing and feeling the marvelous improvement it makes in the way the car handles and acts.

"Basically, the Fluid Drive is a drive through oil, with no fixed mechanical connection between the engine and the rear wheels. The oil does it better than it could be done through any fixed coupling. Some of the things that can be done with the Fluid Drive are almost uncanny. For one thing, it makes driving almost unbelievably simple. It enables you to drive all day under average conditions without touching the gearshift or the clutch pedal. You start, stop, then start again, all in 'high.' Think of what it means to drive a car with that kind of silky, smooth performance! And you slip out of soft mud and ease out of snow heaps where formerly it took a tow car to free you.

"On hills you can slow the car down to a mile an hour without stalling the engine. Going downhill, the engine acts as an efficient brake through the Fluid Drive. With all of it, there is nothing new to learn about operating the Fluid Drive Dodge; it is simply much less work at the wheel and at the controls.

"While the Dodge Fluid Drive is undoubtedly the most dramatic of the advances found in the new 1941 models, there are other improvements—so many of them as to make the cars one of the most interesting new-season offerings—even without the Fluid Drive."

Several Dodge models are now on display.

Italian Spokesman Also Sees Warning In New Triple Pact

Asserts United States Is Warned To Keep Out Of Europe And Far East Wars

By PERCY WINNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME, Sept. 27.—A sharp warning to the United States to keep out of war in Europe and the Far East was delivered today by Virginio Gayda, Premier Mussolini's press spokesman.

Hailing the Italo-German-Japanese military pact signed in Berlin as a step toward peace, Gayda wrote in the Giornale D'Italia:

"The alliance constitutes a warning to those American circles which while declaring themselves protected by the favor of President Roosevelt continue to plan, at least in speeches and press articles, eventual American intervention in a war which does not concern or touch the United States.

"These circles should know their folly will presently expose their country to war on two entire continents thus endangering the ruinous loss of all positions on their continent and in the world.

"All possibilities of new initiatives or alliances are presently finished."

While the Fascist press hailed the new pact, official government circles termed it an "open invitation" to other nations to collaborate with the axis.
